Cowardly Attacks
Men From Scrap Iron
Little Girls' Dolls
Germany Does Things

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

RECENT attacks on Herbert Hoover, insincere and cowardly, reflect the characters that make them.

Herbert Hoover advocates developing, for the benefit of this country, the sources of power, irrigation and water supply in the Colorado River. This does not please those that wish to monopolize power resources in the United States.

THE people, fortunately, are not foolish, and will not be deceived by attacks inspired by power company interests and others, seeking to monopolize public resources.

Instead of hurting Secretary Hoover, they help him politically.

AS REGARDS religion, Herbert Hoover was born and is a Quaker. His wife was born and is a Presbyterian. But it is a disgrace that anybody should seek to make religion play any part in politics.

HENRY FORD told this writer day before yesterday that one of the best financial investments he ever made was buying old ships from the government, now cut to pieces and piled up in mountains of scrap iron.

There was little, if any, financial profit in the purchase, "but I got two or three good men out of it. The difficulties of the job developed them, and they are worth more than all the ships cost me."

MEN working for Ford in important positions are sure to leave their jobs for one mistake, and that is the mistake of keeping other men down, not giving them a chance.

"You can't keep a good man down permanently," Ford says, but he doesn't want them held back.

BOLSHEVISM decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois or capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

BOLSHEVISM interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self-preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a power far above Bolshevism, just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes communism an impossibility.

GERMANS get things done. Several years ago this writer talked to Judge Gary, head of "big steel," and to his subordinates, urging construction of houses made of steel, which could be stadardized, erected cheaply and swiftly, fireproof and permanent.

The idea interested the big steel company, but it didn't do anything.

GERMANS do things. The steel industry in Upper Silesia is now producing steel houses for four families, six families, and small houses in fifteen different styles and erected in twenty-four days.

Mr. Farrell, of "big steel," or his youthful competitor, Schwab, should look into that.

SECRETARY KELLOGG tells banks in this country not to buy bonds of the Russian government. It's good advice, for although Russia's government has stood up marvelously, it would not be a good "insurance risk." Too bad Wall Street's boy financiers didn't have somebody like Secretary Kellogg to keep them from buying the Czar's bonds, and even more preposterous bonds issued by Kerensky.

Largely on account of those bonds this country is not permitted to do business with Russia.

SOME British authors have answered the question, "what character in all literature would you have most like to have created?"

H. G. Wells says Falstaff, John Masefield Achilles, Conan Doyle, Colonel Newcome. Others select Milton's Satan—a fine, sympathetic character in spite of his misdeeds—Don Juan, Anna Karenina, D'Artagnan, Don Quixote, and Antigone. That question would make a good subject for essay writing in advanced high school classes—young writers giving reasons for their choice.

OF 500,000 that die every year in France, 40,000 are killed by cancer, and a special school has been established in Paris to fight cancer.

The strange thing is that with all the studying so little is known.

But a remedy may be found as simple as the remedy found for scurvy, which once killed ten per cent of all men that went on long sea voyages.

LIME juice added to the sailors' food supplied the vitamins, of which the British navy did not even suspect the existence, and put an end to scurvy.

Cancer and diet may be as closely associated as scurvy and diet.

Kills Prowler at Door

THINK VICTIM DRUNK

Waiting, shotgun in hand, Vincent O. Leeman, shot down a prowler as he forced an entry into his home, South avenue, Haysville, early this morning.

The dead man is Dominic Troise, 35, of 226 Ferry street, Sewickley, a forman employed by the W. F. Trimble Contracting Company.

Leeman called State Police Corp. Frank Milligan a few minutes after he had killed Troise and informed the officer of the shooting. Leeman said that about 5 o'clock this morning he was awakened by his wife who told him, that a prowler was attempting to enter the house through a side window.

Leeman said he looked through the window and saw the man attempting to force the front door. Arming himself with a shotgun, Leeman opened the door, and Troise attacked him, Leeman said. Leeman fired, the shot entering the man's chest. He died a few minutes later.

Leeman was turned over to the coroner by Corp. Milligan.

Watchman Slain Over Woman

Three hours after Charles B. Johnston, 49, former police lieutenant, died early today in Ohio Valley Hospital, his skull battered and jaw broken, Mrs. Mary Fagan, 35, confessed to homicide detectives that her husband, John Fagan, 43, had beaten Johnston in a hallway of the Fagan home at 414 Tabor street, Espien, last night and then disappeared.

RUTH USHER RAIT

As Mrs. Mehar Singh Rait, the position of the former Ruth Usher is somewhat disconcerting. If, as the Immigration Department insists, her husband is to be deported in June, will she accompany him to his native land? Rait declares he come to America as a student, lecturer, writer and has denounced his own faith and fatherland for America's opportunities. He arrived in America August 21, 1922, and has studied at Youngstown, O., Marshall, Mo., and the University of Pittsburgh. That he wants to remain in America is proven in his determined fight against the deportation order. Clarence Darrow, the noted criminologist, is interested in the case and may aid Singh Rait in his fight for permission to stay. The couple were married in the First Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, last November.

HOW FOX TOOK CHILD IS TOLD

COURTROOM, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—The story of how William Edward Hickman lured Marian Parker from school on the pretext that her father was ill was told a jury in Superior Court here today.

Naomi Britton, a teacher at the Mount Vernon Junior High School, Los Angeles, was called by the defense, which is attempting to prove Hickman insane and save him from hanging for the murder of Marian.

Miss Britton, a little woman wearing heavy glasses, walked timidly to the witness stand and related how Hickman came to the school and asked for Marian Parker.

APPEARS WEARIED

Her voice was hardly audible as she told the story, and it seemed that the fact that she had permitted Marian to leave school with the youth weighed heavily upon her.

Hickman drove up to the school during the noon recess on December 15, went to the office and asked for the Parker girl, Miss Britton said. The youth was informed that there were two Parker girls and Hickman replied that he wanted the youngest one, she said.

Marian was then called to the office and was told that her father was ill and that she was wanted at home immediately, Miss Britton continued.

Marian asked anxiously about the condition of her father, the youth

John Lewis Confers Here

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the organization, arrived here from Indianapolis national headquarters today for a conference with Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia union officials on the bituminous strike situation.

The national officers went directly to union headquarters in the Columbia Bank Building, and were closeted for several hours with Philip Murray, miners' international vice president, and executives of the local districts.

Campbell Building Sold

The Campbell Department Store Building, an eight-story structure at 331-35 Fifth ave, structure at 331-35 Fifth avenue, between Smithfield and Wood streets, has been sold by the Mary E. Schenley estate for a consideration in the neighborhood of $1,750,000.

Deeds have been delivered through the United States Realty Company and the Commonwealth Real Estate Company to David W. Brandwein.

Fire Razes Terminal Of B. & O.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2.—Fire this afternoon destroyed the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad roundhouse, terminal of the Connellsville division, and badly damaged 30 locomotives, valued at $3,600,000 or $120,000 each.

The full extent of the damage cannot be determined until an examination is made of the engines, but railroad men say some are virtually worthless.

Several small office buildings nearby were wiped out by the flames.

HELPLESS IN COAL STRIKE, DECLARES FISHER

By WILLIAM L. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1928, by Sun-Telegraph.)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—Facing a problem that runs back through the years to the first time one man hired another to work for him, Gov. John S. Fisher, anxious to find a solution to the strike in the soft coal fields of Western Pennsylvania, is frankly puzzled.

"Haven't you a definite suggestion to make?"

With that question he greeted the Sun-Telegraph reporter seeking from him his first public interview on the strike.

"They won't yield an inch, you know," he continued.

"Who do you mean?"

"Both sides. The first thing the state tried to do was to bring both parties in the controversy together in an effort to reach some amicable agreement by which the miners could return to work and the mines be kept operating. Neither side would yield a hair's breadth."

The Governor leaned forward in his chair.

NO LAW COVERS CASE

"We hear suggestions of mediation, of arbitration. How can you arbitrate when neither side is willing? There is no law that enables the state to compel the operators to let the miners return to work or to compel the miners to work when they refuse to do so. I've conferred with representatives of both miners and operators. I've found both willing and anxious to have the government intervene on their side against the other."

"Both sides seem firmly convinced that they are right?"

"Exactly, both believe, and believe honestly, that they are fight-

IMMEDIATE GOVERNMENT INTERVENTION SHOULD BE PUBLIC OPINION'S DEMAND

THIS is the fourth and last story by Fannie Hurst on the mines and miners. These vivid articles have roused Pittsburgh and Washington to a point where officials and public demand some immediate settlement of the problem.

By

Fannie Hurst

(Copyright, 1928, by The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

THERE is a well-known story about the visit of Gen. Goethals to Pittsburgh. A hillside had suddenly slid out from under an important boulevard. Consternation resulted. Local engineers put their heads together and then scratched them in puzzlement. Committees met. Finally it was decided to send for the great engineering expert, Gen. Goethals. At a handsome fee, he was brought to Pittsburgh. The city awaited with anxiety his solution of the serious situation resulting from the traffic artery that had been jeopardized by the land-slide.

FANNIE HURST.

After one look at the scene of the disaster, Gen. Goethals did what only a man who has grown big simply, and not simply big, could do. "Shovel away the dirt," he said, and took the next train home.

Operators, Miners, Public, "SHOVEL AWAY THE DIRT!"

Immediate Truce Paramount

The coming of the Messiah to this troubled scene must be in the form of public demand for immediate truce and conciliation between the opposition forces, Miner and Operator.

Immediate, if human life is to be saved.

Immediate, if the babies, innocent children and courageous women caught in the wine press of this condition, are to be freed.

Immediate, if the all-too-unconcerned middleman, who must ultimately pay, is to be spared the throes of financial pinch, which just as surely as the law of economics functions, is encroaching upon him.

Immediate, if the public is to be rescued from the results of the vile social menaces of immorality, bootlegging, prostitution, sabotage, intimidation, betrayal and coal-and-iron police dictatorship that is degrading the present scene of many of the non-union coal mines.

Immediate, because ultimately, despite a temporary condition of overproduction, it is the public that must foot the bills of the coal companies, which assert that they are now operating at a profit, on the non-union basis. It is the public which must ultimately pay the millions this strike has already cost.

Every day that passes over this deadlock, spells peril.

Danger-Fraught Drowsiness

The condition at the moment has slumped into a lethargy which is comparable to the drowsiness that overtakes a man lost in a snowstorm.

It is a dangerous drowsiness. In this case, dangerous to human life, to human endeavor, human prosperity and human happiness.

Meanwhile, the public has stood naively by awaiting the mysterious panacea! There is none. "Shovel away the dirt."

For one skulking reason or another, the civilized, the fair-and-square, the obvious solution to this question has been sidestepped for the incredible period of over two years. "Interests" of one sort or another have succeeded in squeezing the wine press down tighter on the human flesh packed beneath it.

The remedy lies first of all in awakening public demand for immediate government intervention. There are three open sesames to the situation, Compromise, Mediation, Arbitration.

Urges Compromise

Compromise, far from being ignoble surrender of purpose, can result in mutual concession that in itself may mean solution.

In this plight, where immediate action is so impera-

SPUR STRIKE SHOWDOWN IN SENATE

IN HOME OF STRIKING MINER

WITH UNION MEN AT VESTABURG BARRACKS

STRIKE-BREAKERS TAKE HER THROUGH MINE

WITH MINERS' FAMILY

No word-of-mouth knowledge marks the stories which Fannie Hurst, noted novelist and short story writer, prepared for the Sun-Telegraph. Here she spreads a little cheer as she encounters the proverty in homes of striking miners. Mrs. Martha Winning and her three children.

HEARS STRIKERS' OWN STORY

From the union men who have battled for what they consider right, she heard the tale of suffering and privation which has been the strikers' lot. She heard their stories of the strike. They told her why they quit work, why they have refused to return and they outlined conditions upon which they believe a resumption of union mining can be effected.

AND THAT OF THE STRIKE-BREAKERS

She visited strikers, strike-breakers and operators. Strike-breakers told their side. Operators gave her their viewpoints. From this data, impartially gathered, Miss Hurst wrote her articles which have proved a revelation.

SHOWDOWN IN SENATE SPURRED

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Further discussion of the coal strike situation in Western Pennsylvania is expected to take place today on the Senate floor as an outgrowth of the congressional investigation demands of Senator Hiram Johnson, California.

Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, has announced his intention to address the Senate on the strike. He is scheduled to gain the floor shortly after the Senate convenes today. Indications are that others will join in the debate and that the strike will get one of the most thorough airings it has yet received.

Senator Johnson charged on the floor Wednesday that a conspiracy between powerful railroad companies and coal operators is responsible for the coal suspension. He read a letter from Secretary of Labor James J. Davis announcing that the government had failed to bring about a settlement of the strike and then demanded that the Senate meet its obligation by investigating conditions in order to bring about peace.

PINCHOT LETTER READ

A second letter, this from former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, was read. It charged that the police power of his state has been used in the interests of coal operators. Pinchot declared that "many gunmen and other bad characters have reappeared in the strike regions bearing the commissions of the state and exercising its power as coal and iron police."

Senator Johnson, author of the pending resolution calling for an inquiry of strike conditions, then said: "Injunctions have been issued in this territory about which I have been speaking: injunctions, as I read them, which are the most remarkable ever issued in the history of the United States. I have respect for the courts of this land and yield to no man who has practiced law in the long period I have in a greater regard and respect for the courts.

"But I deem these courts but a sorry tribute. I pay to my profession but a sorry compliment when I stand idly by and see a fundamental right of American citizens taken from them by injunction or any other process."

Senator Johnson called attention to the text of an injunction which, he said, had been issued in November, 1927, in the case of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation . one Philips, wherein it was de- eed that "the men are prohibited om congregating on the Magyar esbyterian Church lot or any her lot, place or places, at the ne the employes of the plaintiff me out of the mines; from singg so in the hearing of the em- the plaintiff, or threaten- in a hostile nature."

YMNS PROHIBITED

The California senator said the efendant in this injunction proeeding was the president of the Magyar Presbyterian Church as well as a miner. The songs they had been singing, he told the chamber, were "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Then reverting for a moment to the Bull Moose campaign of 1912, in which he ran as vice presidential candidate with the late Theodore Roosevelt, he said: "I heard great audiences in 1912 sing that latter song and sing it with a fervor that touched all those either indulging in the melody or who heard it."

Senator Johnson added that another enjoined song was "The Union Forever," which he had first heard as a boy during the Civil War in a household that was intensely for the union of the states. "But in Pennsylvania," shouted Senator Johnson, "the singing of that song is prohibited by injunction. In Pennsylvania, sir, there is prohibited the singing of hymns that have been uplifting in all the ages since Christianity became a ivilizing force. In Pennsylvania shall not cong ate upon a church lot because some man, sitting upon a dias or a bench, shall say that when we sing we sing in a threatening and hostile manner."

The injunction, said Senator Johnson, further prohibited the striking miners from doing anything to cause the men working in the mines to quit, or to cause men seeking work from so doing. Plainly construed, Johnson observed, this meant that miners might not even contribute their "pitiful sums" to their fellows in distress.

"Where was that injunction issued?" inquired Senator Reed, Pennsylvania.

PLEADS FOR SUFFERERS

"In Indiana county, Pennsylvania, on November 8, 1927. I can give you the whole text." "That is sufficient," said Reed, and Senator Johnson concluded:

"Of course, in an investigation such as my resolution proposes, there ought to be no more required than a prima facie case. Heavens—is not a prima facie case made here—it seems that some place, somewhere, with some men, there rests an obligation to do something in this coal strike. Somewhere in the government there must be the power sufficient to alleviate the conditions that we find existing in Pennsylvania. Futile, indeed, are we, worthless indeed our power, if in this day, 1928, of a boasted civilization, we cannot delve into this situation.

"I do not appeal here for a union at all. I am not appealing for one side or the other. I recognize the differences that may exist among men on this score.

"I do plead the cause of women who are weak; of mothers who have not milk for their babes; of babes who are born in shacks where the wind blows through and howls, and snow comes in upon a new born infant. I plead for this investigation and ask it for this reason alone—humanity demands it. Human beings are at stake. What difference does it make that the power and wealth of Pennsylvania and other states may be on the other side? For once let us arise above the cry of materialism and more profit."

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, explained that he would not discuss at length the coal strike situation in his state until a later date, because he was en route to an important committee meeting, but he said this much:

"I will say now that throughout the bituminous coal regions not only in Pennsylvania, but of Ohio and northern West Virginia, there exists at this moment the most intense suffering on part of practically all who are in that industry, union and nonunion, operator and miner. For reasons I do not need to argue now, the markets of those mines are denied them. The price of their product is so low that it is practically impossible for operator and miner to exist. There are more miners than there is employment for, even if there were no strike. There are more mines than there is business for, strike or no strike.

"The sam; conditions that have been so often and eloquently described here about the predicament of the farmer obtain with infinitely greater force throughout the bituminous regions.

"NO ONE PROSPERING"

"Our greatest industry in Pennsylvania is the mining of coal—not manufacture. Yet under conditions of today I think it literally true that no one is prospering, mine owner or mine worker, and that no one can prosper under these conditions. When we talk of the farm problem we ought also to think of the coal problem."

Senator Reed admitted that in his state "people are living under conditions in which no American ought to live and there must be, as the California Senator said, some relief for it." He asserted that he was going to vote for the adoption of the Johnson resolution of inquiry and that all he asked "is that the investigation shall be fair and thorough."

He recalled that four years ago a probe was authorized by Congress which employed numerous experts. This commission, he added, filed a report of thousands of pages, "yet it is safe to say that mighty few members of the Senate or House ever could get time to study its contents."

It was all right, Senator Reed observed, to make investigations, but open ears were needed to hear the report. In response to Senator Johnson's charges of misbehavior on the part of the Pennsylvania constabulary in antagonism to the striking miners, Senator Reed informed Johnson that the Governor of Pennsylvania is now investigating such charges and has not been indifferent to them.

PIGEONS FIND NEW FRIEND

Thirty pigeons were left without owner and caretaker, when Sol E. Gilkerson, retired Negro policeman, was found dead in his home at 6929 Susquehanna street, but Patrolman Henry J. The pigeons were without food while Gilkerson's body lay in his home undiscovered for three days.

San Juan Greets Lindy

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 2.—(AP).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today made the shortest flight of his great aerial tour, flying from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, to San Juan, where he landed at 1:55 this afternoon (12:55 Eastern standard time).

The flight occupied two hours and five minutes, for he deviated from the direct course to fly over the Island of St. Croix, lying some miles south of St. Thomas.

Lindbergh took off from St. Thomas at 11:50 a. m. (10:50 Eastern Standard time) and had favorable weather for his short jaunt to this city.

Thousands had gathered along the seafront and at Escambron flying field, and at 1:40 p. m. the Spirit of St. Louis, with its famous pilot aboard, appeared in the distance.

Pruett-Schaffer Company in Tabor street, was found in the plant last night by David Pritchard, a workman, washing blood from the wounds on his head and face.

Mrs. Fagan said her husband had become incensed because Johnston had used profanity in her presence. Johnston, who lives at 314 Tabor street, near the Fagan home, and Fagan had become involved in an argument Tuesday night in the street.

Mrs. Fagan said she tried to quiet them and that Johnston abused her verbally.

Yesterday Fagan told her he intended to demand an apology from Johnston. He brought Johnston to the Fagan home last night.

In the hallway, near the front door, her husband bore down on Johnston "with a pipe or something," Mrs. Fagan said, and the victim collapsed. Fagan fled. Johnston arose and left the house unaided, Mrs. Fagan said.

Mrs. Fagan suggested that her husband had fled to a brother's home in Cleveland, O. Detectives have asked Cleveland police to try to apprehend him.

Detectives were puzzled over what appeared to be a bullet wound in a leg of Johnston's, but the autopsy failed to disclose a bullet. Mrs. Fagan is being held as a material witness.

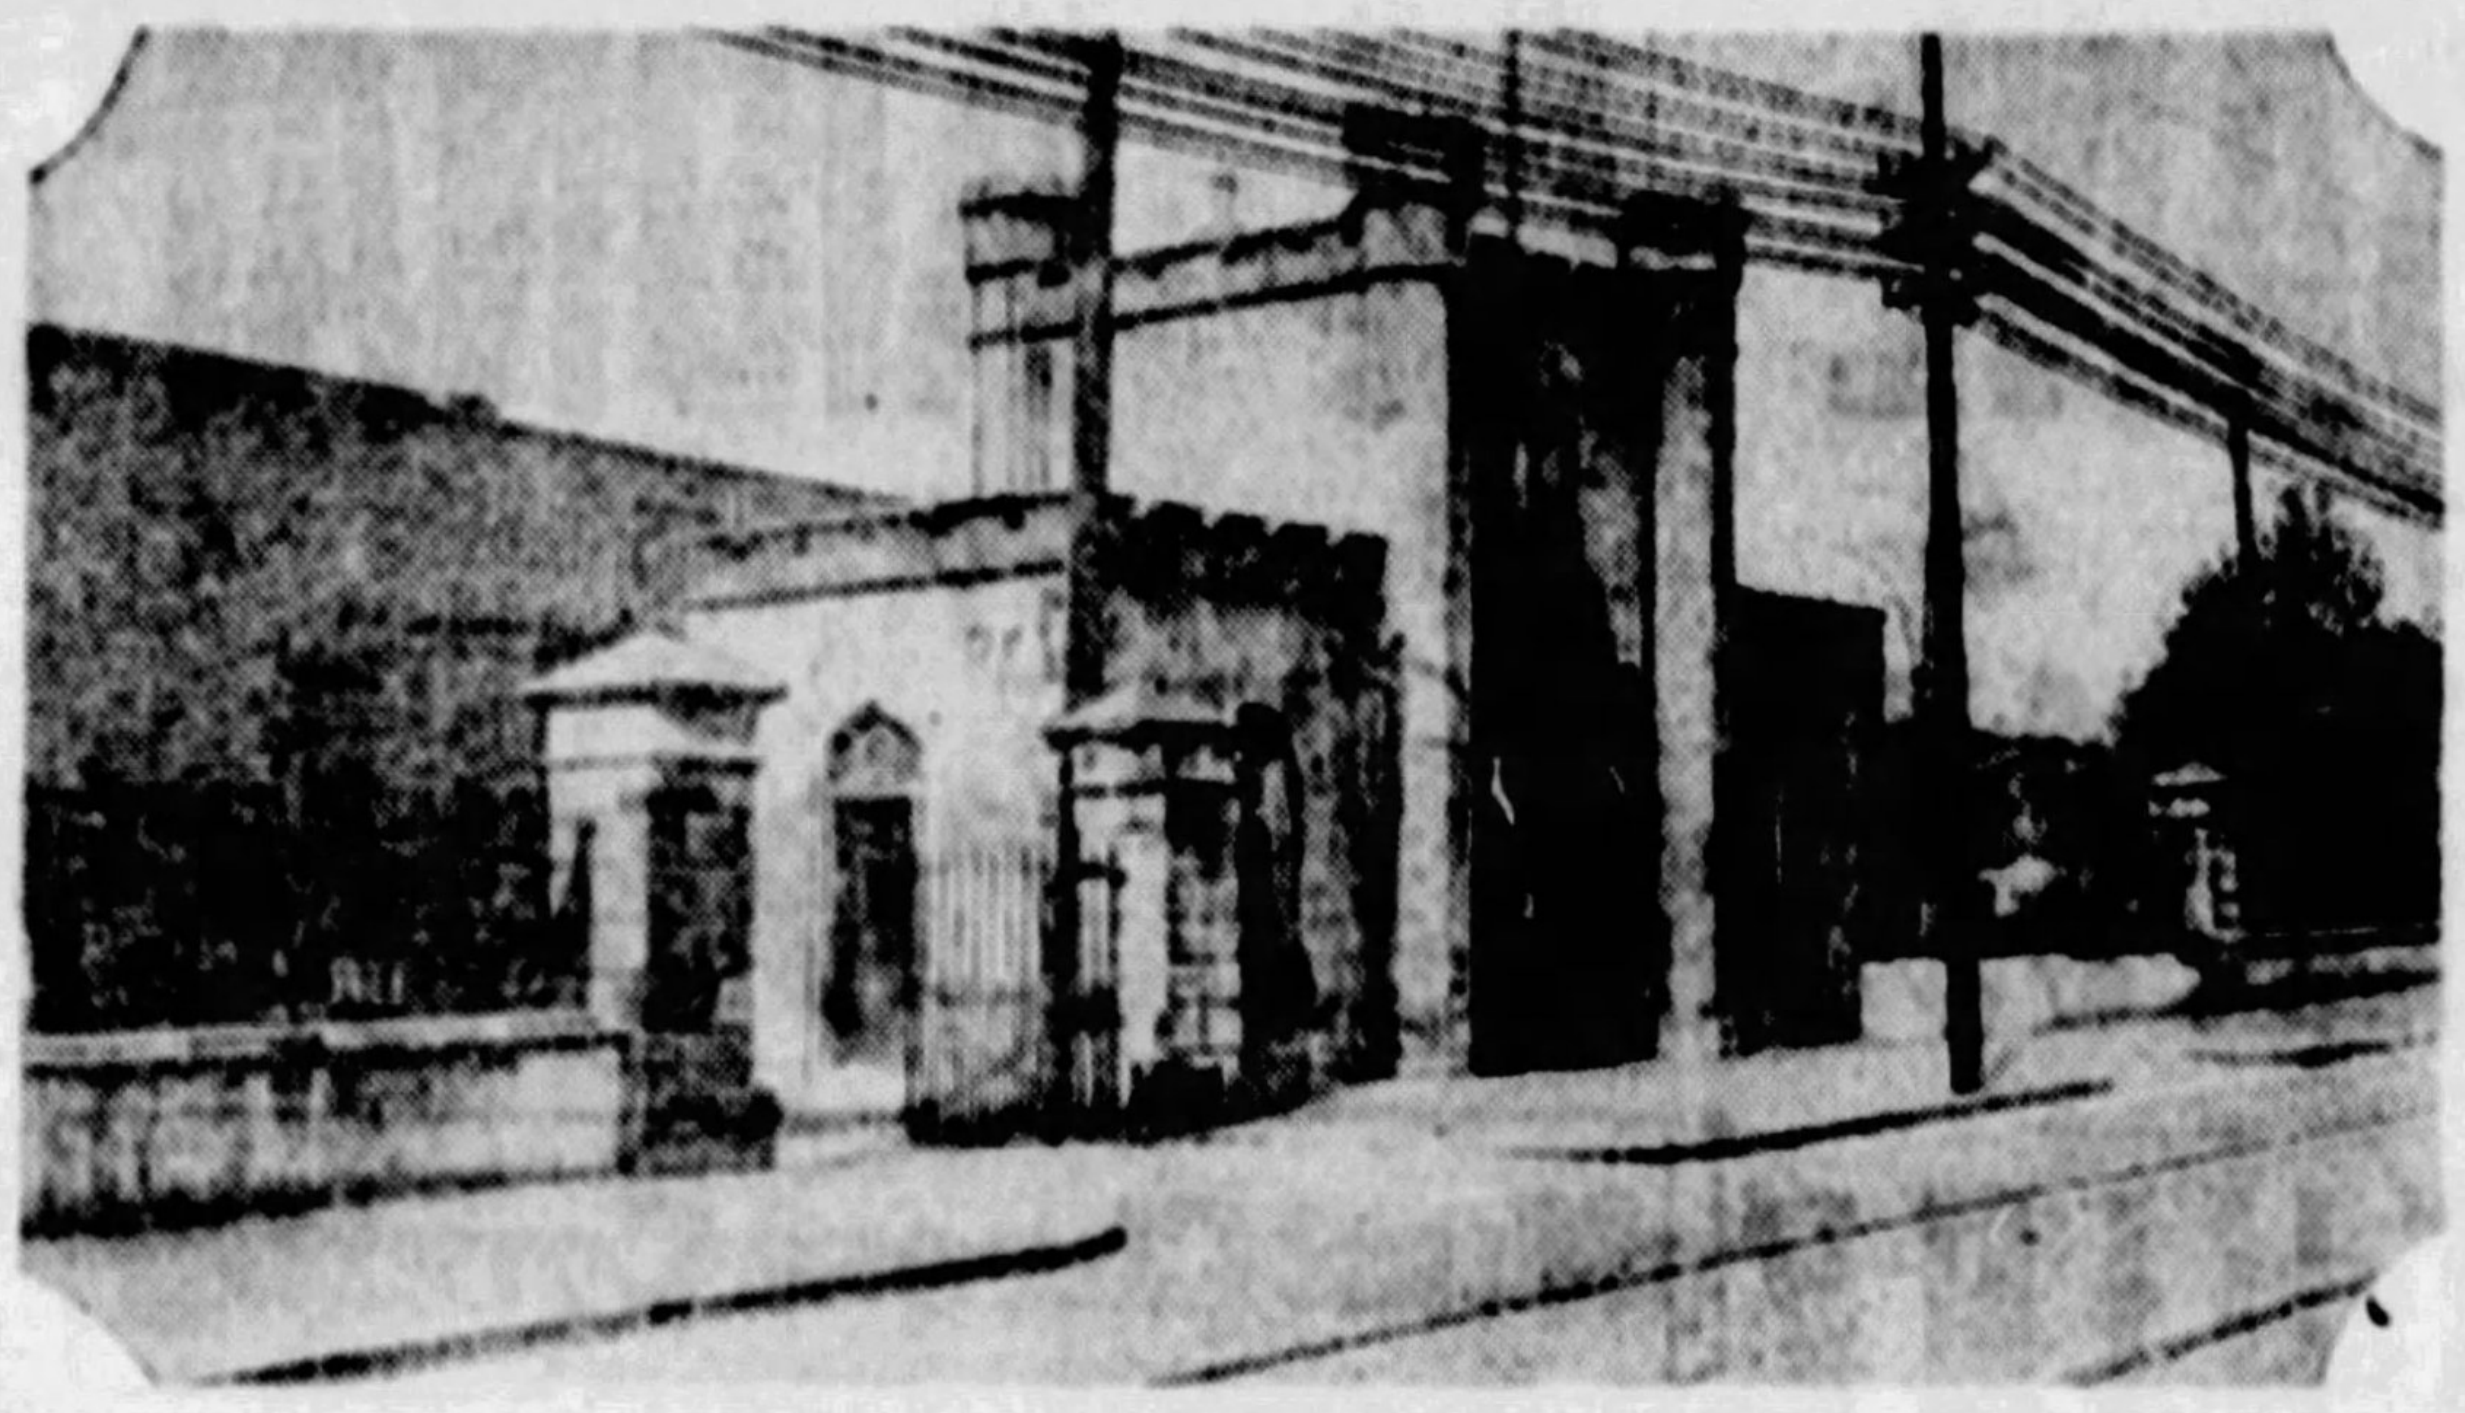
CHARLES B. JOHNSTON

His head battered, Charles B. Johnston, of 354 Tabor street, died in the Ohio Valley Hospital shortly after he was found unconscious in the office of the Pruett-Schaffer Company, at Esplen. Mrs. Mary Fagan confessed to homiced detectives that her husband, John Fagan, had beaten Johnston last night and then disappeared.

ARSENAL GATE BECOMES MEMORIAL



RELIC OF 1812 WAR GOES TO CITY

William H. Stevenson, chairman of the Pittsburgh Committee on the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial, making his final report to City Council yesterday submitted a balance of $5,000 and at the same time announced that Howard Heinz, purchaser of the old Allegheny Arsenal property, had offered the historic gateway to the city as a memorial. Finance Committee of Council concurred in Mr. Stevenson's suggestion that the balance of the Sesquicentennial fund be used to move the stone gateway across Butler street to city property on Arsenal Park playground. The Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania at its meeting last night indorsed the project. The gateway, 18 by 54 feet, was erected in 1814 and through its portals supplies were hauled from the arsenal for Gen. Andrew Jackson's army at New Orleans.

TEAPOT DOME WITNESS DEFIES PROBERS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The new Teapot Dome inquiry ran into another blank wall today when Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, refused to shed any light on the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty bond fund.

Stewart, belligerent and breezy by turns, defied the committee when asked whether he knew that the Continental had invested its profits in Liberty bonds. He also declined to tell what he had heard about the distribution of the bonds.

MAY CHARGE CONTEMPT

After the hearing, Senator Walsh announced that the committee would meet tomorrow to consider the question of citing Stewart to the Senate for contempt. He said the committee might ask the Senate to take Stewart into its custody until he answered the questions or that it might follow the procedure taken in the Sinclair case—a citation to the Federal courts. Sinclair was convicted and given a three months' prison sentence, which was appealed to the Supreme Court.

Stewart shed but little light on the $50,000,000 oil deal between the Continental and the Sinclair Crude Oil-Prairie Oil and Gas Companies. The Continental bought oil at $1.50 a barrel from A. E. Humphreys, Texas oil man, and sold it at $1.75 to the two other companies. The Sinclair company guaranteed the Continental company in the deal.

Stewart said he knew "somebody was making money" on the deal but he refused to tell who he thought was profiting.

"I don't care who was making money on it," Stewart said. "I knew my company was making a good deal."

Stewart showed anger once when he shouted that he had never "made one dollar personally" out of the Continental deal.

Shots Fly At Striker Homes

Armed with a shotgun, two non-union miners ran amuck at No. 6 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation at Bruceton last night and fired at the barracks of striking miners' families, according to information supplied today by Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke. He is investigating the incident.

O'Rourke said that some of the shots had struck the home of Mrs. William Mendel, a widow with four children, one of whom is a striking miner, and also the Fishman store, ridding the door.

George Freeman, in charge of the Pittsburgh Terminal Company's police, said today that he had been informed that an unidentified Negro had fired into a window of the Fishman store and had escaped. He knew nothing, he said, of the man having been a non-union miner or having been protected by police.

ing for principle. The miners insist their cause is just. The operators are just as firmly convinced that, if they accede to the demands of the strikers, the mining industry in Western Pennsylvania would be doomed. It is an economic war. There is suffering. This bitter weather certainly would aggravate it."

"Leaving out the merits of the controversy, Governor—taking it for granted, for instance, that both sides are right or both sides are wrong, it is undeniable that there are women and children who are cold and hungry. They are not responsible for the trouble and they are bearing the brunt of the burden."

MUCH WELFARE WORK

"The state has not been idle," said the Governor. "First of all we had to preserve order. There have been some disturbances, but in the main I believe we have been successful. I instructed the Department of Health to send representatives to the camps to guard against disease, to test the drinking water and to take what sanitary measures are necessary and possible under the circumstances. They have been successful in preventing any epidemic of disease in the camps.

The Department of Welfare also has been keeping a careful watch on the situation. It is unfortunate, perhaps, that the state has no funds that can be legally used for the relief of sufferers. The only fund remotely connected with such a case as this is in the Department of Military Affairs to be used in floods, strikes and catastrophes where the militia of the state are sent to the scene. That is not applicable in this instance.

"The Department of Labor and Industry has been on the job since the start of the strike. The refusal of both sides to enter arbitration proceedings practically blocked the work of that department at the beginning. Charlie Waters can tell you about that."

Gov. Fisher referred to Charles A. Waters of Philadelphia, head of that department, and generally regarded as the organization candidate for auditor general.

"Whenever appealed to I have tried to help," the Governor said, "in several cases, merely by personal appeal because the state has no laws that enable me to intervene, I have been able to delay eviction proceedings. The state has been doing everything it can legally do. We would like to stop the strike. We'd like to relieve all of the suffering. Again I ask, have you a concrete suggestion?"

The Governor declined to comment upon the statement about strike conditions issued by former Governor Gifford Pinchot.

JAIL DOORS OPENED FOR 56

Releasing 56 men, held in the county jail and workhouse on illegal sentences, Judge James B. Drew today censured city magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace for committing persons to the institutions for periods longer than the law permits.

Freedom for the illegally-confined prisoners was gained through a writ of habeas corpus obtained by M. B. Lesher, assistant county solicitor, following an inquiry into sentences.

Most of the 56 had been sentenced as suspicious persons, for disorderly conduct or for drunkenness. Instances were cited in court where some had served two and three months longer than the maximum legal time.

Most of the men had been sentenced by city magistrates. Three were from Braddock, two from Clairton, three from Carnegie, and one each from Swissvale, Duquesne and Heidelberg.

Forty-eight of those released were Negroes. Four were held on detainers for police authorities.

Truck Runs Wild; 4 Hurt

When a large transfer truck ran wild in Brushton avenue this afternoon, three women and the driver were injured and the front of the H. C. Henderson drug store, 7701 Frankstown avenue, was demolished as the van smashed into the two large show windows. Damage to the store was estimated at $2,000.

Mrs. Vera Monahan, 24, of 910 Brushton avenue, and Mrs. James Harrison, 55, of 7701 Frankstown avenue, second floor, waiting for a street car in front of the store, were struck by the truck and suffered cuts and bruises. Mrs. Monahan was taken to the Pittsburgh hospital, and Mrs. Harrison, attended by a physician, was taken home. Mrs. Marshall Westcott, 34, of 910 Brushton avenue, narrowly escaped being hit and suffered from shock.

The truck was owned by the J. Kenny Transfer company, 101 Carson street, and driven by Charles McKeever, 27, of 508 Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg. McKeever was cut on the hands. He lost control of the truck when a spring broke and fell on the steering rod.

Ladies' Aid Ousted

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2—Target of a "lockout" order by the board of trustees, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Dunbar Methodist Protestant Church, forced to disband, has reformed its lines under the name of the Martha Washington Sewing Circle.

The break-up of the society, in existence for more than a quarter century, came after receipt of a letter from the trustees telling the members to remove a quilt from the Ladies Aid room, as the trustees had put a lock on the door and that the "janitress had been instructed to keep the door of the church locked against the Ladies Aid and not let them enter."

State Finds Chaos Among Coal Police

DAD'S PAL

"Whatever my boy wants to become," said Frederick Voelker, a draughtsman, "I will help him to that end." It was a happy moment when Fred brought his diploma home from Morningside School where he had scored highest in a mental test given the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

LIKES SCHOOL

Fred used to turn right when leaving his home at 1616 Chislett street, but next Monday he will turn left for Peabody High.

HELPS MOTHER

Fred, though he earned highest honors in the Stanford Test, is not above donning an apron and helping wash dishes. "He's just a normal, healthy boy," his mother said. And, as Mary Jane is only 6, Fred helps in numerous ways about the house.

WANTS TO DESIGN PLANES

Fred has ambitions to get into the aviation business, probably as a plane and motor designer. "It takes 10 men on the ground for every one in the air," Fred said. "I hope to make myself valuable in that calling."

STUDIOUS

Fred's mother said his books were scattered all over the house, but he has a desk all his own in his room, and here he does his most intensive studying. Books on history, science, travel, and high emprise are on his desk and a large photograph of Lindbergh with his plane is on the wall.

Outraged Femininity Repels Iambic Attack, Hurls Shock Troops of Rime at Berator of Dieting Sex

SEVERAL hundred girls answered the poem "A Taking Girl" on the editorial page of the Sun-Telegraph recently. It was written, perhaps, by an irate bachelor who had had little success with the dieting sex.

Copied from Capper's Weekly, which had copied it from the Western Druggist, the much discussed jingle has created quite a furore.

THERE is not a masculine failing that hasn't been brought to light and thoroughly aired by our readers.

Here are three representative jingles. And just to prove they are not written by sour old maids in revenge we offer the pictures of the charming poetesses.

"A MAIDEN'S RETORT"

RUTH F. FISKE,
760 Hill ave., Wilkinsburg.

RUTH F. FISKE

I took his clumsy hand—'tis true,
I took his books and candy, too,
I took the silly things he said
About my hands and eyes and head.
I took his kisses, tried to see
The favor HE was doing ME.
I took his jokes and laughed, Ha, Ha!
He raved until he cramped his jaw.
But! I took his WORD—and then I saw
That's where I'd made my big faux pas.

"WHAT I GAVE"

GRACE WILSON,
Box 253, Zelienople, Pa.

GRACE WILSON

I gave him my number to call me soon.
I gave him my time—why, even at noon.
I gave him my car to use for dates.
I gave him my "line" to spring on his mates.
I gave him my kisses, I meant them, boys.
I gave him my thoughts, my sorrows and joys.
I gave him my dates—theaters, swims.
I gave him his way—to answer his whims.
I gave him my picture—swore not to forget.
I gave him my love—so glad that we met.
I gave him my heart—forever and aye.
But, I'd given too much. So he threw it away.
If I'd taken and taken—I'd have him today.

"A GIVING MAN"

FAY SIPE,
325 Lawrence ave., Ellwood City, Pa.

FAY SIPE

He gave me first his word of love,
He gave me things to be proud of,
He gave me promises of frocks
And dreams of homes in several blocks.
He gave me a ring on my wedding day,
He gave me a kiss when he went away.
He gave me excuses—quite a lot—
Whether I thought them true or not.
And! Then he gave me a divorce—
And is starting out on another course.

KEEP 'HEAVIES' ON, SAYS GROUNDHOG

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 2—"Yes, I've seen my shadow," languidly remarked Br'er Groundhog at the official weather works on Gobbler's Knob, today, as he turned toward his den in the caverns of Canoe Ridge for another six weeks' slumber. "If you wear 'heavies' or flannels, you'd better keep them on because the worst is yet to come in winter weather."

As he tarried at the portal of his hillside home and watched his receding shadow in the light snow carpet, Br'er Groundhog added:

"I've been press-agented and exploited so long that I'm a bit weary. I don't want to 'high hat' the people, but this business of national advertising that they are giving me must be distasteful to my old friends, Doc. Hughes, Joe Wilson, Clymer Freas, Charlie Payne, Des Freas, Congressman Smith, Col. Bill Fairman of blessed memory, and all the old boys who felt that they held me as their own pet and controlled the weather accordingly.

"In the old days few people could pronounce Punxsutawney and nobody except the postmaster pretended to spell it. I'm thinking that the town got $1,000,000 worth of advertising out of my stunt while the politicians who framed it up are nearly all dead and I am still living in a hole in the ground. Good-bye!"

GROUNDHOG SURE AS CALENDAR

DODGE CITY, Kan., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A Colorado groundhog brought to his farm near here to test the age-old superstition, has convinced J. L. Hayes that "there must be something to it."

For two years Hayes has watched the animal hole out on February 2, cavort in the sunlight and then reenter its underground home, closing the hole after it. After today's performance Hayes said he was convinced.

"I hid all my calendars and that groundhog hasn't seen one, I swear," said Hayes. "How did he know this was the second of February? This is the first time he's been out since November 27, when he holed up. He dug out today on his own initiative. It is six weeks more of winter sure."

Hayes brought the animal from Saguache Park, Col., two years ago to test the superstition. Last February 2 it dug out after four in the afternoon, sunned itself for a half hour and holed up again. Today the animal emerged in the morning sunshine and played about the yard.

AND HERE'S THE POEM

"A TAKING GIRL"

She took my hand in sheltered nooks,
She took my candy and my books,
She took that lustrous wrap of fur,
She took those gloves I bought for her.
She took my words of love and care,
She took my flowers, rich and rare,
She took my time for quite a while,
She took my kisses, maid so shy—
She took, I must confess, my eye,
She took whatever I would buy,
And then she took another guy.

FIRE RAZES E. PGH. CASINO

The old Casino building, 636 Braddock avenue, East Pittsburgh, famous a decade ago as a poolroom and meeting house for sportsmen of the Turtle Creek valley, is no more. Flames raged through the old structure, a three-story frame, for two hours this morning and defied efforts of the East Pittsburgh, Turtle Creek, North Braddock and Westinghouse firemen. Two small dwellings, homes of Negroes, in the rear of the Casino, were badly damaged. The loss was $25,000.

Recently the building had been used by the Westinghouse interests as a storeroom and cabinet shop, where office furniture was repaired and refinished.

East Pittsburgh firemen responded to an alarm at 3:30 o'clock and were aided by the Westinghouse firemen. For a time it was feared the flames would spread and aid was summoned from North Braddock and Turtle Creek. The building stood across Braddock avenue from the Westinghouse plant.

Two Negro families occupying dwellings in Wilson way, in the rear of the Casino, were taken from their homes by police, and some of their possessions were saved.

Firemen Stuck In Ice

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2.—While members of the California Volunteer Fire Department and their apparatus were marooned in the ice-choked Monongahela River early today, fire destroyed two dwellings and routed three families at Newell, causing $35,000 loss.

Firemen from Charleroi, Fayette City, Brownsville and West Brownsville subdued the flames after a two-hour battle. The families of James Petri, Joe Malstino and Joe Russo were forced to flee and lost nearly all their belongings. The double house occupied by these families and a vacant house adjoining, in which the fire started, were wiped out.

Half a dozen members of the California Fire Department, opposite Newell started for the blaze and were crossing the river on a ferry flatboat when the lines became tangled in the ice. The firemen were in mid-river for an hour, helpless to fight the blaze, which they had expected to reach in a few minutes.

Bare Coal Police Chaos

By International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—Upon the report which Philip S. Moyer, Deputy Attorney General, makes within a few days to Gov. John S. Fisher may depend the entire future of the so-called coal and iron police in the bituminous and anthracite fields of Pennsylvania. Moyer said today that his report, now nearing completion, will include his findings on 113 charges made against the police by officials of the United Mine Workers, which he secretly was assigned to investigate.

These private police have been the controversial vortex about which has raged many of the most bitter differences of the operators and miners and have been partly responsible for the attention now focussed on conditions in Western Pennsylvania coal fields.

VANISHING POLICE

Meanwhile, the Governor's office admits that somewhere in the state more than 2,000 of these policemen, armed with the authority of the commonwealth and the right to wear uniforms, are left to their own resources, unattached to any command.

The records in the Governor's office show that 3,382 commissions have been issued to these special police. A questionnaire mailed secretly by the Governor's office to 86 coal companies, employing coal and iron police, accounted for only 1,589 men regularly employed. Answers to the questionnaires were compiled in November. Since that time an effort has been made to locate some of the surplus 2,393 men, but there has been little success, the Governor's office admits.

Each policeman originally was commissioned for three years. The commissions may be revoked only after formal charges have been made against the holder. Coal companies have been discharging the men at will, some after serious charges have been brought against them, but no formal charges against the men were filed in Harrisburg.

As a result, the men discharged, still in possession of their state commissions, became free agents, unattached and under no command.

Citing specific instances of the alleged laxity attending employment of the coal and iron police, records in the Governor's office showed that the Pittsburgh Coal Company employed 119 special officers on November 18, but on that date the company had a total of 255 commissions listed. The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation reported 54 men actually employed, but the records charged them with 156.

of New York, representing the Chain Store Realty Corporation, headed by Benjamin Bachrach, of the Ross Stores, Inc., a chain of department stores operating in many cities.

It is the general report in real estate circles that a new Fifth avenue store will be opened by the syndicate. The possession of the property is taken subject to the lease held by the Campbell interests.

Deeds were delivered by John W. Herron, Denny Brereton and the Commonwealth Trust Company, trustees of the Schenley estate. The property fronts 70 feet on Fifth avenue and extends 240 feet to Oliver avenue.

Joseph A. Aronson and I. Leonard Aronson represented the United States Realty Company in the deal.

HOW "FOX" TOOK CHILD

told her to hurry along and they left the office at once, the teacher said.

She added that there was no hesitation on the part of Marian.

SAW NOTHING SUSPICIOUS

There was nothing about the actions of Hickman to arouse the least suspicion as to his motive in asking for the girl, Miss Britton testified.

A moment after they left the office of the school, Edward and the girl stepped into the automobile he had parked at the curb and drove away.

A little more than two days later, Hickman returned the dismembered body of the little girl to her father and collected $1,500 ransom money.

By a chance of fate, the teacher's testimony brought out, it was Marian who became the kidnaper's victim instead of her twin sister.

When Hickman asked for the younger Parker girl, the teacher sent without hesitation for Marian, not knowing the two girls were twins.

FILM PORTRAYS MINE MISERY

Motion pictures taken under the auspices of The Sun-Telegraph showing the actual distribution by Howard Thurston, the magician, of tons of food to the destitute and starving miners of the Pittsburgh district are being shown today throughout the city in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer news reel films.

Among scenes of opulent and lavish splendor, princes and potentates and current events, the intimate and timely pictures of Mr. Thurston answering the tragic plea of hungry men, women and children for food is a telling and vivid portrayal of conditions at the neighboring mine villages.

To Acmetonia, Harwick, Indianola and Russellton, the caravan of mercy wended its way, leaving nourishment and hunger-ease in its wake.

The picture of hundreds of families literally fighting for food as Mr. Thurston unloaded boxes, barrels and sacks of edibles from the huge trucks, offers an unforgettable scene of tragic need.

The pictures are being shown at the Aldine and Penn theaters, downtown, the Alhambra and Liberty theaters, East Liberty, and the Colonial theater, Wilkinsburg.

No Need to Say that Now.

If you have tried "everything" for your pimples, blackheads or eczema and want to know what it is to get something that really works—then let your skin know the magic touch of sulphur combined with menthol. Nothing more amazing than how sulphur clears the skin,—and as sulphur clears, menthol heals. As combined in Rowles Mentho Sulphur, the two make an astonishing skin corrective and builder. Pimples dry up overnight. Blackheads and coarse pores vanish in a few days. And as for eczema—even the most burning or itching case soon yields. NORTH SIDE LADY IS GIVEN RELIEF

She Tells How Ten Herbs Benefited Stomach, Liver and Nerves.

"My stomach was in such bad condition that sometimes even the sight of food would nauseate me," was the statement of Mrs. Mary Hauch, popular lady, living at 1306 Howard Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "Nearly everything I ate disagreed with me," Mrs. Hauch continued. "At times it seemed as though food formed in a hard lump in the pit of my stomach and would sour and ferment. Gas would form and I would bloat until I could hardly get my breath.

MRS. MARY HAUCH

"I had nervous spells and did not get proper sleep, as I would roll and toss for hours at a time. My liver was disordered, and this made me bilious and dizzy. I had headaches and was troubled with constipation. My kidneys were out of order. There were soreness, stiffness and sharp ains across my back. Finally, rheumatism developed, and I had terrible pains in my shoulders and limbs.

"A friend told me about Ten Herbs, and I started taking it, with splendid results. My food digests better and I can eat things I never dared eat before. I am getting relief from gas, sourness, heartburn and shortness of breath, and am gaining in strength. My nerves have been strengthened and I sleep better. My liver and bowels seem to be in normal condition, and I am free of headaches, dizziness, biliousness and tired feeling. I am also being relieved of soreness and stiffness across the back, and rheumatic pains. Ten Herbs did so much for me that I gladly recommend it to the public."

Ten Herbs, which consists of the medicinal extracts of ten wonderful natural ingredients, benefits and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and gives the entire system a thorough cleansing.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

6 OF FAMILY, TRAPPED IN FIRE, BURN TO DEATH

FOUR CHILDREN PERISH IN HOME

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—A family of six, including four children, were burned to death today when their home in West Philadelphia was transformed into a roaring inferno by the explosion or upsetting of a small oil stove.

Only one member of the family, Henry Mantiel, 7, escaped death. He was found overcome by smoke in the hallway of the house.

THE DEAD

Armando Manitel, 35; his wife, Carolyn, 32, and their children, Anna, 8; Celicia, 6, Orlando, 4, and Oscar, 2.

Policemen, discovering the fire, sought to arouse the occupants of the house, in vain. Then they battered in the door and dragged Henry into the street and turned him over to neighbors. The boy was frightened so badly that he could not talk.

While a neighbor telephoned in a fire alarm the policemen braved death in futile efforts to rescue the family.

Smoke seeping into neighboring houses drove dwellers into the street as firemen erected ladders in futile efforts to enter the flame-swept house to rescue those within.

As the flames waned, firemen found the charred bodies of the girls on the stairway leading to the first floor.

TWO OTHER CHILDREN DIE

WESTERNPORT, Md., Feb. 2.—Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Carroll, Paul, 4, and Doralina, 4 months, burned to death today when fire destroyed their home. The mother, Mrs. Carroll, was aroused barely in time to escape from the blazing structure. The older child evidently had tried to escape. His body was found in a corner.

EDWARD HOOVER, FORMER SOMERSET SHERIFF, DIES

Expect Aero Club Ball Attendance to Set Record

Advance ticket sales indicate that the Aero Club ball tomorrow night in William Penn Hotel will be the largest in the history of the organization, according to Capt. Thomas S. Voss, chairman.

Clarence D. Chamberlin will notify Robert E. Drake, club president, today, if his plans for another attempt at the endurance record will permit his attendance. Other air celebreties, including high Army officials, are expected, and several stage stars appearing at theaters here will attend. These include Howard Thurston, the magician, and members of Robert Mantell's Shakespearian company.

Another feature of the program will be the sale of cigarets by nine Pittsburgh debutantes. More than 50 leaders in Pittsburgh society are patronesses of the ball.

IT'S 'PARTNERSHIP MARRIAGE' NOW

By International News Service

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 2.—A new marital relation, "partnership marriage," had been promulgated today by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker Phillips.

They were married here yesterday in a syncopated ceremony and have gone to New York where Phillips will enter business. The groom, a junior in St. Louis College, lives in Camden, N. J. Mrs. Phillips was Miss Margaret J. Rochester of Baltimore.

The wedding was performed in the basement of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house. Five of Phillips' fraternity brothers, dressed in women's clothes, served as "bridesmaids." A jazz band played a syncopated wedding march as the couple came up the basement steps after the ceremony.

In explaining the unique ceremony, Phillips declared:

"We have our own code of ethics. We do not consider the marriage ceremony essential, but realize that we must conform in some measure to the rules of society. For the words 'until death do us part' we mentally substituted 'until love dies.'

"Our marriage is just a partnership. It is similar to but not the same as companionate marriage. We decided to get married with certain understandings. For instance, neither one is obligated to support the other."

COUNTY HEADS TO PICK TOWN HALL SITE

No particular location for a public auditorium has been selected by the town hall committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, it was made plain in a statement issued yesterday by George S. Davison, chairman. Mr. Davison pointed out that the site ultimately will be chosen by County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and C. C. McGovern, in whose honor a town hall dinner will be given at the William Penn Hotel next Monday night, to promote the project.

"Since the announcement was made that the town hall committee had definitely determined to wage a vigorous campaign for the erection of a public auditorium in this community," said Mr. Davison "many persons have inquired of me where we intend to locate the building. I believe it should be made perfectly plain at the outset that the town hall committee is not urging any particular locality. It is even not concerning itself with the design of the building. Our function, as we conceive it, is to obtain, through the cooperation of the county commissioners and the affirmative votes of the people of Allegheny county, funds with which to build the town hall.

"After this has been done, then it will be up to the proper officials of the county to select a site and design the structure. It would seem logical that after sufficient funds to erect the town hall had been authorized, the commissioners hold public hearings of interested citizens. The commissioners then, in consultation with their director of public works, could give the matter thorough study from every conceivable standpoint, and then choose the site.

"Similarly, it is very probable that the director of public works would invite suggestions from the people generally, as to the design and equipment of the building.

ORDER OIL CITY BROKER TRIED

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 2.—Efforts of defense counsel to block another trial of James Willard Nixon, former member of the defunct brokerage firm of Cadigan and Nixon, of Oil City, failed yesterday. Nixon has already been tried for embezzlement, the case resulting in a "hung jury" at the November term. His counsel, Judge Frank J. Thomas, of Meadville, and Attorney C. W. Benedict, of Titusville, urged dropping the case, pleading that the defendant had been "in former jeopardy." District Attorney Dan B. Goodwin at once filed a demurrer, and Judge Parker sustained his plea. Preparations are being made to put Nixon on trial at this term.

Brings Better Health to Thin-Blooded Folks

NEWEST DISCOVERY

HEMO-LIVER

A big 12-ounce bottle of Hemo-Liver sells for $2.00—this would be a high price for a patent medicine—but Hemo-Liver is not a patent medicine.

It contains the red blood making vital element of vitamines extracted from beef livers and is an expensive formula to produce.

But what matters the price to any thin blooded, weak, rundown man or woman when every druggist in America is authorized to return the purchase price if one bottle (8 days' treatment) doesn't prove to you that Hemo-Liver will restore to you the rich red blood cells your frail body is starving for and bring back health, vitality, energy and old-time ambition in fullest measure?

Beef liver is full of red blood making vitamines, eat plenty of it. Get Hemo-Liver at May Drug Co. Stores.

2 WASHINGTON COUNTY STILL USERS HELD

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 1.—Proprietors, it is alleged, of two of the largest moonshining plants to be discovered in Washington county in recent months, Henry Giorgetti, aged 40, of Avella, was held under $1,000 bail by Alderman J. F. Carmichael, of this city, and Nick Kuzovach, aged 32, of East Bethlehem township, under $2,000 bail by Justice of the Peace Philip F. Clark, of Scenery Hill, yesterday. Both furnished bail.

The two plants, each equipped to produce 100 gallons daily, were located in opposite sections of the county, and are declared by officers to be the source of a large amount of liquor sold in this and neighboring counties.

Approximately 4,000 gallons of mash was destroyed at each place. Each had stills with 100-gallon capacity, in addition to other equipment. State police and local officers combined in the raids.

BREAKS PAROLE; SENTENCED

Newton Vasser, alias Rufus Johnson, alias "Ten Night," a New Kensington Negro, convicted "dope" peddler, yesterday was sentenced by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to serve 18 months in the Federal penitentiary for violating the Harrison narcotic act. He earned his sobriquet by a phenomenal 10-day run-of-luck at cards.

Vasser broke his parole by selling moonshine whisky. Sentenced to 60 days in the Westmoreland County jail, he later was turned over to Government Narcotic Agent W. T. Duffy. Judge Schoonmaker spoke of the seriousness of breaking a Federal parole and imposed the penitentiary sentence. He had been arrested on the narcotic selling charge while conducting a club in New Kensington.

Crowd Likes "As You Like It" And "Julius Caesar", in Nixon, Find Shakespeare Is Modern

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

HOW modern and universal Shakespeare is had a demonstration yesterday afternoon when "As You Like It" was presented at the Nixon Theater, with Genevieve Hamper as Rosalind and Robert Mantell playing the melancholy Jaques.

GEORGE SEIBEL

The wit and philosophy seemed quite as apt to our present age as the latest quips of Shaw or O'Neill. With what gusto they were received by the overflowing audience, and with what relish they were put across the footlights by the players. Everybody seemed to enjoy it, and it was truly enjoyable. Miss Hamper is a Rosalind as lovely as any that has trod the stage within our generation, and she has a boyish swagger comporting well with her doublet and hose. It is the intellectual sort of comedy that she can do most admirably, while her mellow voice and clear diction carry the lines into her listeners' hearts. It revived memories of Julia Marlowe, Viola Allen and Modjeska.

Mr. Mantell's support was admirable—and of the Jaques it must be said that no pessimist was ever more ingratiating. He even sang a song to make the holiday complete. This role, which Shakespeare may have played himself, though there is better evidence that he did old Adam, was evidently fattened up by the Bard especially for Mantell's benefit. It is a pleasing revelation of the actor's lighter vein. John Alexander as Orlando, Le Roi Operti as Touchstone, John Schellhaas as William and LeBeau, Philip Quin as Adam, Theresa Colburn as Celia and Besse Simone as Audrey, all did splendidly—and the audience also did splendidly, after it had warmed up, appreciating all the wit and wisdom as if they were the latest brand—which they are.

For after all there is little that is new in this world, and little that Shakespeare has not touched with prophetic vision. The evening performance of "Julius Caesar" emphasized this again, for here were Mussolini and Bolshevism depicted in the palmy days of Rome. How modern the pomp of imperialism and the clamor of the mob! This Roman tragedy is not often given, because it has nothing that might be called love interest, and requires three or four first-class actors to do it justice. Mantell is a fine Brutus; he has the dignity and proud bearing, the stoic calm of the noblest Roman of them all. John Alexander made a very good oration as Mark Anthony; Rex K. Benware acquitted himself well as Cassius; Bruce Adams was notably fine as the imperious Caesar; Genevieve Hamper is a lovely Portia. The performance went very smoothly, but for a slip of the tongue by Brutus in the tent scene and a slip of the foot by Pindarus on the plain of Philippi. The audience was even larger and more enthusiastic than on any previous day.

Tonight "As You Like It" will be repeated, with Genevieve Hamper as Rosalind and Mantell as Jaques.

TWO-PIANO RECITAL LISTED FOR FRIDAY

Rheumatics are Wild with Joy
Nurito Prescription Acts Like Magic, Making Bed-ridden Sufferers Get Up and Dance.
DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT
Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. Many won't believe such a thing possible as almost instant relief in even bed-ridden cases of excruciating pain. They say it must be a narcotic. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle in driving away pain with two or three doses the druggist will refund the price you paid him for it. Ask at the drug store for a box of Nurito on this guarantee. At all Druggists and McCulloch Drug Stores.

From Childhood Rhyme

NORMA TALMADGE appears to have stepped right out of the jingle about the little girl who had a little curl right in the middle of her forehead. Miss Talmadge, we feel sure, is very, very good, and never, for a moment, horrid, in "The Dove," coming to the screen of the Penn.

Chaplin to Produce But Not Play Napoleon

Charlie Chaplin's conception of Napoleon Bonaparte will be filmed by the comedian, beginning in April, in a serious motion picture to be written, directed and produced by Mr. Chaplin, according to Carlyle Robinson, Chaplin's personal representative, who has just arrived in New York from Hollywood.

Chaplin does not choose to play the character of Napoleon himself, said Robinson, and therefore he is seeking in America and in England and France, through his representatives, a man qualified to play the part of the Emperor.

In April, the Napoleon film will be begun by Chaplin at his studios in Hollywood, Robinson said, and some scenes will be filmed in France, in accordance with Mr. Chaplin's expressed wish to make the picture authentic in backgrounds. Chaplin believes that there is drama and a humanly personal side in the private affairs of the Emperor, as yet unrevealed by official records, said Robinson, and he intends to make an interpretative screen biography in connected story form. Chaplin is now in Hollywood, doing research work on the life of Napoleon and completing the story of his next comedy, "Nowhere," which he will begin making in February, playing his usual tramp character.

LECTURE ON SEALS FOR SCHOOL PUPILS

A lecture on seals and seal life will be given before the entire student body of the Hancock Public School on the stage of the Aldine Friday morning by Capt. Charles F. Adams, who will demonstrate with his group of performing seals. His company, including Odiva, who performs in a tank with the seals will illustrate the lecture. Capt. Adams, who has made a life study of seals, will tell the children how the seals live in their native haunts and describe his methods employed in training them. Included in his group is a huge sea lion, said to be the largest in captivity and described as having almost human intelligence. He has been owned by Capt. Adams for 30 years.

MIRTH KEYNOTE ON STAGE

George Jessel will continue in "The Jazz Singer" for the balance of the season and when he produces his new play next season, he will play "The Jazz Singer" at special matinee performances. "The Jazz Singer" will be seen in the Alvin the week of February 6.

The Pitt will present Ann Nichols' comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose" the week of February 6, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. It is said this will be the farewell tour of this phenomenon of the stage.

In the Nixon, opening Monday evening, February 6, for one week only, George C. Tyler will present the American comedy, "Tommy." Besides several youngsters, the cast includes Sidney Toler, Ben Johnson, Lloyd Neal and Maidel Turner.

"Spoofing Spooks," a novelty act which Clarence Downey and company will present in the Keith-Albee Vaudeville in the Davis next week, is based on a spiritualistic seance.

The Four Americans, a quartet of full blooded Indians, will appear as part of the stage entertainment at the Grand next week. On the screen will be Richard Barthelmess in "The Patent Leather Kid."

Fifteen years of newspaper training, in which she answered some 10,000,000 queries, are behind the story, "The Lovelorn," by Beatrice Fairfax, coming to Lowe's Aldine screen the week of February 6.

Norma Talmadge makes her bow as a United Artists star and owner member in "The Dove," her first picture for that organization, to be shown next week in the Penn.

"Fads and Follies" will be next week's burlesque in the Gayety. Among the principals are Jack Lamont, Billy Wallace, Jim McCauley, and Faith Hope.

"Bright Eyes" is the burlesque booked for the Academy next week. Harry Levine and Lew Rice are the comics; Kitty Star, soubret, and Edna Somers, prima donna.

"Serenade," the picture announced for the Olympic next week, features Adolphe Menjou. There also will be a Vitaphone program.

Little Pepi, with Roses Midgets in the Sheridan Square the last half of this week, is the smallest actor in the world, it is said. The screen feature is "The Main Event," with Vera Reynolds.

MARLAND'S ADOPTED DAUGHTER-FIANCEE ILL

LYDIE ROBERTS MARLAND

Another strange angle in a strange romance came to light today with the announcement that Lydie Roberts Marland has been a semi-invalid and a patient in a New York hospital since November. Her foster-father, E. W. Marland, former Pittsburgh attorney and now an Oklahoma oil magnate, had her adoption annulled in January that he might marry her. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Roberts is 25 years younger than Marland, who adopted her 12 years ago.

VANDERBILTS' KIN KILLS HIMSELF

By Universal Service.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 2.—W. Barton French, formerly socially prominent in New York and a relative of the Vanderbilt family there, committed suicide at the home of a friend, Guy Shannon, according to the findings of a coroner's jury here.

French was found in the bathroom of the Shannon home with a bullet hole in his temple.

According to information obtained by the coroner, he had been suffering financial reverses lately, and had become depressed because of them.

He came to Santa Fe Tuesday night from his ranch in Sandoval county, near here, to spend the night with his friend, Shannon, and, according to the latter, seemed to be in good spirit.

Mr. French was married twice and divorced twice, coming to New Mexico some years ago, in order to get away from the gaities of city life, as he put it at the time, "and settle down on a ranch."

"Beautiful smooth skin wins instant response"

"PEOPLE respond instantly to the loveliness of beautiful skin. Every star knows this—they take the utmost care of their skin.

"For in the close-up only the skin of naturally flawless beauty can stand the pitiless search of glaring lights—even slight make-up is apt to show.

"I have observed that the girls who attain success in the films have skins of amazing smoothness." . . F. W. Murnau.

A STAR in Hollywood guards her skin carefully—youthful "studio skin" means even more to her than it does to other women—it means her life, her career. And in that city of youth, nothing is watched more jealously than this loveliness of skin.

Nine out of every ten stars use Lux Toilet Soap. It cares for the skin the true French way. Lux Toilet Soap is made by the very method France developed and uses for her finest toilet soaps.

All the great film companies have made Lux Toilet Soap the "official" soap provided for their studio dressing rooms.

You, too, will delight in the instant caressing lather of this lovely new soap. Get some today—enjoy the caressing fragrant lather you so loved in French soaps but for which until now you had to pay 50c or $1.00 a cake. You will find it for just 10c wherever toilet soap is sold. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Nine out of ten stars use it!

JANET GAYNOR and the smartly designed, utterly feminine bathroom that reflects the spirit of her sparkling beauty which has made her famous among Fox Film Stars.

"There's a caressing quality to Lux Toilet Soap that I have never before found except in costly French Soaps—my skin feels so soft and smooth."

FANNIE HURST URGES TRUCE IN MINE STRIKE

tive, where children, even as you read these lines, are shivering, sickening, underfed and under-clothed, why not a temporary compromise between the contending sides, pending what is sure to be a more or less long drawn out senatorial investigation?

Yes, the situation is that precarious. Hours count! One need only to make the rounds of surrounding coal towns and camps to realize that. Starvation, threat of disease, destitution, prostitution cannot wait on the endless red tape of the routine of senatorial procedure.

Ladies' societies, church organizations, committees are doing something to alleviate the horror of the situation, but babies' caps, cast-off clothing, contributions of day-old bread cannot stem the tide of suffering, except in from hand-to-mouth fashion.

In the name of decency and humanity, since the coal operators are working many of their mines and engaging labor, and since the union dares not hold out to the point of endangering human life to the degree of desperation, why do they not meet on a basis of temporary compromise?

Declare Truce!

There is not time for leisurely and expensive convening to Florida. Babies are hungry! Run up a temporary flag of truce! A six or eight weeks' working agreement will help. It will also force Congress to engage in the novel experiment of functioning rapidly.

Somewhere between the six-dollar-a-day maximum of the operator and the seven-and-a-half-dollar-a-day minimum of the miner is a half-way mark. Split the well-known difference, as a basis of temporary adjustment, even if both sides must pay dearly for that split.

It will not cost so dearly as a continuation of the present deadlock.

Let compromise be a temporary stop-gap, as it were, pending senatorial investigation and subsequent action that will lead to a reorganization and stabilization of the coal industry. And that is no hurry job!

Quick temporary action is the first step toward permanent solution!

Hour for Action Here

There is no reason why, because this imperative action has been sidestepped all these months, that the deadlock should be tolerated another hour beyond what is absolutely necessary for the mediating powers of both sides to get together.

The shameful question as to why the delay in senatorial investigation, congressional intervention, etc., lies behind us now.

Tomorrow is the issue. Action must lie as immediately ahead as that. Compromise, Mediation, Arbitration.

If the operators cannot be brought to co-operate, as was the case in the Washington conference called some weeks ago, then there is, after all, a power that transcends the Department of Labor.

In 1902, the federal government took a mining dispute of major consequence into its own hands, when the anthracite operators, recognizing the power of the President of the United States, bowed before the Roosevelt commission, and after a submission of the facts by the mine owners and mine workers alike to that commission, the points at issue were settled and industrial tranquillity restored.

In 1920, President Wilson appointed a commission to settle the wage controversy in both the anthracite and bituminous coal-producing territories. The result of the bituminous commission was the wage scale embodied in the controversial Jacksonville agreement.

Must Force Action

The time has come when action must be forced!

Women, everywhere, this is your fight-to-the-finish, as well as the fight-to-the-finish of your men.

The pain and deprivation of little children comes poignantly close to the home of your hearts. These old-faced little tots who exist in wretched swarms on the outskirts of your opulent city may not be your own, but they are the children of women who suffer for them, even as you would suffer for yours.

At a large dinner given by a women's organization in Pittsburgh where I was recently entertained as guest, I was requested not to refer to the strike in my after-dinner talk.

With the misery and degradation I had seen that very day in the mining districts ground into my consciousness, it seemed inconsequential to talk about anything else.

IT SHOULD BE SAID! And only the fearless saying of it will rid you of scourge.

Congressional investigation, headed toward preventing a recurrence of this kind of deadlock, must come on the heels of temporary truce.

More Flexible Laws

Not a one-man arbiter, but a board of arbiters is needed to find legalized remedy. The rewriting of certain laws to give more flexibility to the complex requirements of this industry seems imperative.

For instance, Senator Copeland's proposed bill, which provided for a concessionary clause in the Sherman anti-trust law, will be of unlimited value in removing a pinch from the operators' shoe; a pinch which is the root of much evil.

Compromise. Mediation. Arbitration.

No one, at this stage, is pressing the taking over of the coal industry by the government.

Avoidance of that issue can be achieved if operators and miners co-operate toward immediate solution, via Compromise, Mediation, Arbitration.

It is the decent and dignified way out for both sides.

Public Opinion, rise and demand it!

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea
By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but waht delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts to Get Rid of Toxic Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

SUSPEND POLICEMEN CHARGED WITH ACCEPTING "TIPS"

TREATED "NICE," WOMEN SAY

For a few quarts of whisky or their equivalent in money, women of the underworld bribed Patrolman John Bauer, attached to Central station, and were given carte-blanche to ply their trade in Sixth street and Penn avenue, according to charges made to Police Supt, Peter P. Walsh last night by Marie Marlow, 24, "city," arrested Monday night on a morality charge. The woman said she "slipped" the patrolman whisky and money for not arresting her.

Patrolman Bauer and Patrolman Elmer Hampshire, also of Central Station, have been suspended, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and are facing dismissal. They will be arraigned before the Police Trial Board next Wednesday morning. Both are alleged to have "tipped" women of the underworld off to police crusaders against them.

The Marlow woman was arraigned before Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. She was ordered detained and will appear against the patrolmen at the hearing. Amanda Greely was mentioned by the Marlow woman and was arrested. She is said to have told Supt. Walsh that she has been treating patrolmen on the night beat in Sixth street "nice."

Bauer admitted to Supt. Walsh that he knew both the Marlow and Greely women were of questionable character.

The suspension of the patrolmen came after the Marlow woman, following her arrest, complained she was given a rough deal.

"Don't see why I have been picked up when I treat the officers so nice," she said while being taken to Central Station. Supt. Walsh heard of the remark and started the investigation.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

FRIGIDAIRE SELLERS LEAVE FOR DAYTON

More than 200 Frigidaire salesmen and dealers of the Pittsburgh district left last night for Dayton, O., to attend the company's twelfth annual convention. They received the trip as a reward for their high sales totals in 1927, a majority having sales amounting to $25,000 or more. As an additional reward, each received a bonus of $100. A. L. Hattenbach, president of the Suburban Electric Development Company, Frigidaire distributors in Western Pennsylvania, was in charge of the delegation. Other sectional conventions will be held throughout the country.

IMPOSING STONE FRONT HOUSE HIDES DISTILLERY

An imposing stone front cloaked the operations of a bootleg gang in a North Side residential district until Lieutenant John Lynch investigated. He arrested John Kapus and Pete Gurski of Beaver avenue, at work in 2426 Colorado street, and confiscated four stills and 63 gallons of moonshine. Magistrate Sweeney today sentenced the prisoners to pay $100 each.

CONVICT WOMAN BANK CLERK

By International News Service

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 2.—Mrs, Ada Kauffmann, of Franklin, today was found guilty of embezzlement on two counts while working as an employe of the Exchange Bank Trust Company of Franklin,

She was found not guilty on a third count involving a cash box shortage of more than $6,000.

The two counts on which she was found guilty involved $4,000 which disappeared from the bank accounts of two depositors.

The jury retired at 11:20 yesterday morning and returned a sealed verdict at 2:45 this morning.

MRS. KAUFFMAN CALM

The sealed verdict was presented to Judge William M. Parker and read in court at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Kauffman, who sat with a young woman friend in the courtroom in the seat reserved for witnesses, took the decision calmly.

She bowed her head and tears filled her eyes.

Her counsel, G. G. Martin and A. B. Johnson, immediately called for a poll of the jury. This was done and the attorneys indicated a motion for new trial would be presented at once.

The trial, which has attracted more attention than any in Venango county courts in years, covered a period of four days.

The counts on which she was found guilty were that she converted $2,000 from the account of Joseph Shaffer of Cochranton to that of her husband, John Kauffman, and that she did the same with the account of R. A. Gourley of Rocky Grove, amounting to $2,174.97.

The third count, the one on which she was acquitted, was that she had taken money from the cash drawer of the Exchange Bank totaling $6,725.62.

Ex-Patient Suing Physician for $25,000 Loses

Harry Clifford, Braddock motorman, lost a $25,000 damage suit against Dr. H. W. Morrow, Swissvale.

"It smelled like a frying pork chop," testified Clifford, describing the use of an electrical machine on one of his legs for a skin eruption.

The physician denied that the treatment was too severe and that an X-ray machine was used, and said that he had treated Clifford with the ultra-violet ray. W. A. Challener represented Dr. Morrow in the trial before Judge J. H. Gray.

the Doctor says:

A COUGH is usually nature's effort to clear the air passages of germ-laden mucus that obstructs breathing.

PERTUSSIN not only helps Nature to free you of excessive phlegm but it soothes the inflammation and relieves the cough spasms.

PERTUSSIN is freely given for irritating coughs with excellent results, and has been favorably known to practising physicians and pharmacists for more than 20 years.

If PERTUSSIN does not relieve your cough in a reasonable time, it is wise to consult your physician.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

You know rheumatism can not be "rubbed" away

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Earl C. LAKE RATE DEFENDED

I. C. C. URGED TO LET TARIFF STAND

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Counsel for the three railroads serving the Pittsburgh coal district started their final oral arguments before the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the important lake cargo case, which is to decide the right of southern lines to reduce their rates on coal 20 cents per ton to Lake Erie ports for trans-shipment by water beyond.

Arguments in behalf of the southern lines including principally the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Norfolk and Western and the Louisville and Nashville, were completed for the most part yesterday, with prospects that the proceedings will wind up today. A decision, however, is not expected to be handed down for several weeks.

Appearing as counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the B. & O. and the New York Central Lines, forming the northern group, Attorneys C. H. Webber and James Stillwell contended that the proposed rates of the southern carriers are "unreasonably low" and are in violation of given sections of the Interstate Commerce act. The burden of their argument was that the commission had full authority to suspend the rate cut ordered by the southern group, which was seeking to overcome the differential granted carriers of the Pittsburgh district in the last lake cargo decision.

URGE WIDE DIFFERENCE

Because of the greater distance from southern mines, in Kentucky and West Virginia, to Lake Erie ports, together with certain cost factors enumerated, it was urged that a wide preferential should exist in favor of the northern lines.

At the same time attorneys for the latter railroads told the commission that they believed a proper solution to the controversy might be to restore the old rates which were in effect before the last decision on lake cargo coal, with it understood that the southern group would withdraw its petition for the reduction of 20 cents per ton.

"The northern carriers feel," said Mr. Webber, "that if the commission believes the differential should be narrowed the economic and proper way to handle the matter would be to permit the northern lines to restore their rates that were in effect prior to the last decision and have the southern roads cancel their proposed reductions, thereby restoring the rates as they were prior to the decision and avoiding the loss of revenue which has resulted."

If the southern lines win the present case both groups of carriers actually stand to lose considerable revenue. Prior to the last decision the Pittsburgh district carriers enjoyed a preferential of approximately 25 cents per ton. This was increased to 45 cents by the decision. In an effort to offset this advantage of the Pittsburgh district and thereby increase their coal shipments to the northwest by lake cargo the southern lines arbitrarily ordered a reduction of 20 cents per ton.

EACH SIDE MAY LOSE

Thus if the new rates should hold with both, each side would lose 20 cents per ton revenue on coal shipments.

Emphasizing the disadvantage claimed by the Southern lines, William A. Northcutt, chief counsel for the Louisville & Nashville, told the commission that his company stood to lose 4,000,000 tons of its lake coal traffic annually, amounting to approximately $7,240,000 in revenue, if the reduction is denied.

"It is submitted," he said in summing up his argument, "that the respondents have shown that their proposed rates are within the confines of reasonableness, are not contrary to Section 3, will not cast any burden on other traffic, or infringe any policy of the commission, are indispensably necessary to these carriers and to the shippers they serve, and have been justified."

Other representatives of the Southern group stated that cost analysis of their earnings showed that a greater profit was derived from coal shipments than any other class of freight. This was in support of the contention that the proposed new minimum rates were reasonable and justified.

Pimples Itched And Burned Badly Cuticura Healed

"My trouble began with a breaking out of pimples which caused disfigurement. My forehead and back were just covered with them. Some of the pimples festered and scaled over leaving my skin tough. They itched and burned so badly that I was constantly scratching, and scratching caused eruptions. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back, and I lost sleep on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted for two years.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased more. I got relief within a week and inside of six weeks my trouble was healed." (Signed) Miss E. Dunkelberger, 135 Liberty St., Newtown, Pa., July 11, 1927.

Suffers Running Sore 10 Years

Old-Time Remedy Starts Healing in Five Days.

Every person suffering from old sores and ulcers should know about the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment. Thousands have used it with joyful success after treatments and other remedies have failed.

"I am not much of a writer, but will give you a good ad for Peterson's Ointment if you care to publish it. I am a woman twenty-four years of age, and have had a running sore just above my ankle for over 10 years. I tried doctors and almost every kind of a salve, but failed to heal it. A year ago I got a box of your Peterson's Ointment and in five days' time I could tell that it was healing. It took only one 35-cent box and two sixty-cent boxes in all. So I advise every man, woman or child to use Peterson's Ointment, for it is worth the price and is good to keep on hand."—Mrs. Fay Korenchuk, Chicago, Ill.

That's the kind of a healing ointment Peterson's is and one 35-cent box from your druggist will prove it.

Supplies and Equipment of "We" for Flight to Paris

No Avoidable Risks Run in Building, Testing and Outfiting the Ship

The earlier preparations for flying across the Atlantic ocean were the subject of Col. Lindbergh's chapter of "We" in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday. The type of plane was carefully chosen, the builder as carefully selected and then Lindbergh himself watched ever step of the fabrication of the "Spirit of St. Louis." Provision for plenty of fuel was made and his course from New York to Paris was plotted with extreme care.

Practice Flights Satisfactory

By COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH.

CHAPTER XXVI.

I EXPECTED to be able to locate my position approximately on the coast of Europe by the terrain. Ireland is somewhat mountainous; England rather hilly on the southern end; France is a lowland along the coast; Spain is mountainous. Therefore the coastline should indicate the country, and my accurate position could be obtained by the contours of that coastline and by the position of towns, rivers and railroads.

During the time of construction it was necessary to arrange for all equipment to be carried on the flight; including equipment for emergency use in a forced landing. After the first few hours there would be enough air in the fuel tanks to keep the ship afloat for some time. I also carried an air raft which could be inflated in several minutes and which could weather a fairly rough sea.

"Lindy's" Equipment

In addition to food for the actual flight, I carried five tins of concentrated Army rations each of which contained one day's food and which could be made to last much longer if necessary. I carried two canteens of water; one contained a quart for use during the actual flight and the other containing a gallon for emergency.

In addition to this water, I had an Armburst cup which is a device for condensing the moisture from human breath into drinking water. The cup is cloth covered and contains a series of baffle plates through which the breath is blown. The cup is immersed in water and then removed and blown through. The evaporation of the water on the outside cools the cup walls and baffle plates on which the breath moisture collects and runs down to the bottom of the cup.

The following is a list of the equipment carried on the flight:

2 Flashlights.
1 Ball of string.
1 Ball of cord.
1 Hunting knife
4 Red flares sealed in rubber tubes.
1 Match safe with matches.
1 larger needle.
1 Canteen—4 quarts.
1 Canteen—1 quart.
1 Armburst cup.
1 Air raft, pump and repair kit.
5 Cans, Army emergency rations.
2 Air cushions.
1 Hack saw blade.

The Plane Assembled

Near the end of April the factory work was completed and early one morning, the 46-foot wing was taken out of the second floor of the factory onto the top of a freight car and then lowered to a waiting truck by means of a gasoline crane. A few days later the plane was completely assembled in its hangar, and on April 28, or 60 days after the order had been placed, I gave "The Spirit of St. Louis" her test flight.

The actual performance was above the theoretical. The plane was off the ground in 6⅛ seconds, or in 165 feet, and was carrying over 400 pounds in extra gas tanks and equipment. The maximum air speed meter reading was 128 M.P.H. and the climb excellent.

The load tests were made from the old Camp Kearny parade grounds near San Diego. At daybreak, one foggy morning, I took off from the field at Dutch Flats and headed for the Army's three kilometer speed course along Coronado Strand. The visibility became extremely bad over San Diego harbor and I was forced to land at Rockwell Field, North Island, and wait for the fog to lift before running the speed tests.

Careful Tests Made

The sun soon dispelled the fog and I took the plane four times over the speed course at an average of 129 M.P.H. in a slight cross wind. I was carrying about 25 gallons of gasoline and over 400 pounds of extra tanks and equipment.

On the way to Camp Kearny I ran a number of tests on the relation of motor R.P.M. to air speed, and by the time I reached the old parade-grounds' field I had collected quite a bit of valuable test data.

I decided to run one more test before landing and had it about half way completed when I allowed the data board to come too close to the window where a gust of air carried it out of the cockpit. I was flying over mesquite, over 5 miles from Camp Kearny, at about a 1,200-foot altitude at the time, and could only spiral around and watch the board flutter down into the top of a mesquite bush.

(Copyright, 1927, by Charles A. Lindbergh.)

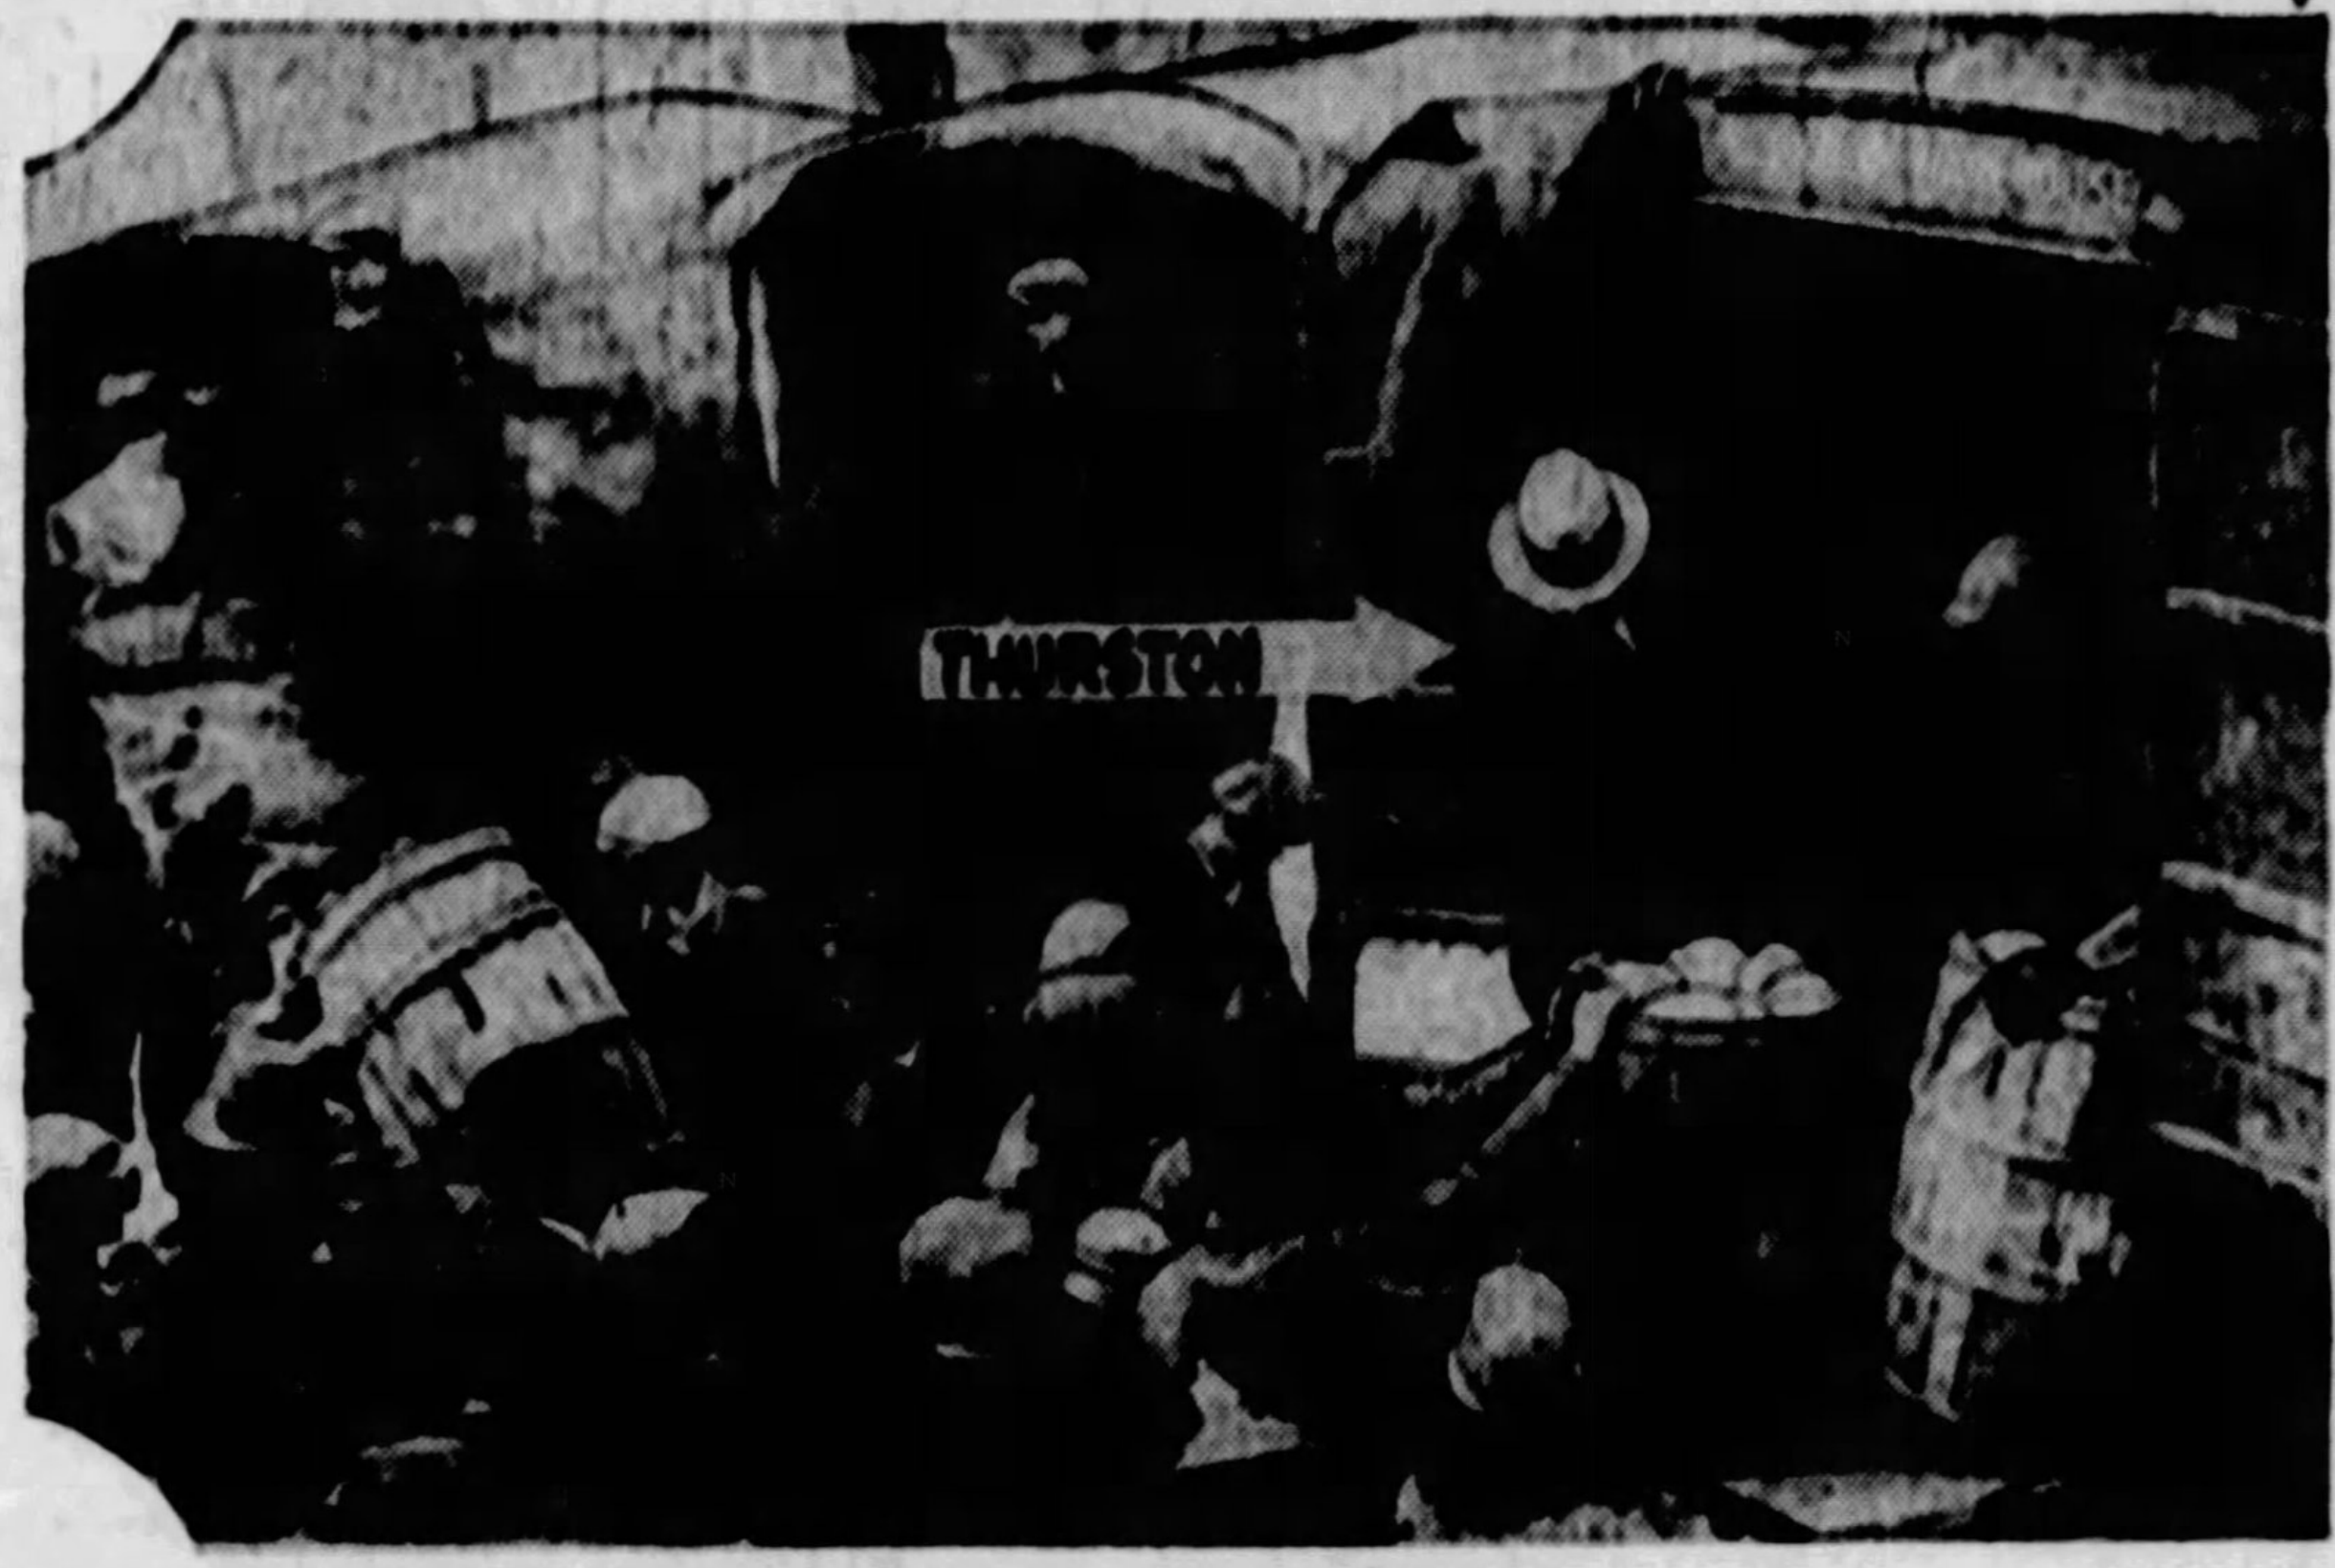
PATCHES BRING GANG'S ARREST



JANE THURSTON

FOOD FOR THE NEEDY

Howard Thurston, famous magician, who will give a benefit performance at the Pitt Theater tomorrow afternoon for suffering women and children in the coal strike area, already has been distributing food. He is shown assisting in unloading produce at the Acmetonia barracks. Stage stars appearing at local theaters this week will take part in the benefit.

DAUGHTER INTERESTED

Jane Thurston, the magician's daughter, has become quite interested in the relief movement and has spent considerable time in the barracks, spreading cheer and distributing baby dolls to the destitute miners' children. Miss Thurston, who made her social debut in Cleveland last week, will make her initial stage appearance at the benefit show tomorrow.

PENNIES FOR RELIEF

Newsboys who serve the public daily on East End corners have volunteered to contribute their earnings Friday to the relief of suffering miners' families. They will donate their profits Friday to the Central Relief Committee which is distributing food and clothing to needy families throughout Allegheny county.

Keep Hoover, for Fear of Flood, Will Urges

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 2.—See in the paper this morning that there is some talk of Mr. Hoover's resigning from the cabinet. Certainly would be too bad, for we would have to draft him back again in April and May to take care of the flood situation on the Mississippi. If he had charge of that relief work for a few years continuously, he could have that whole country trained so they would leave the south and move north for two months every year. They would only have to do this till the year 1950, when Congress would vote relief.

RIVERS DRAGGED FOR SMITH GIRL

By International News Service

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 2.—Developments today in the Massachusetts search for Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing college freshman, were summarized as follows:

Again turning to suicide theory, state police continued to search rivers and ponds.

Capt. Charles T. Beaupre revealed that three troopers nearly lost their lives when they were tossed out among the ice cakes in Connecticut River but were rescued.

State Detective Joseph V. Daly was reported working in Springfield on the "held for ransom" angle.

Dr. L. H. Horton, Boston psychoanalyst, apparently convinced that the girl is not a suicide, prepared his report to her father, St. John Smith, wealthy retired New York broker.

Although the girl, thought by Miss Lucy Gurnee to be Miss Smith, a girl who obtained a position as governess with a wealthy Boston family, proved to be a Miss Ferguson, of Warwick, N. Y., search continued in that city, as several reputable Boston merchants have stated that a girl answering Miss Smith's description was in their stores the day after the college freshman vanished from Northampton.

"The search is still in progress and will continue until the Smith girl is found," announced Capt. Beaupre in a radio address.

Famous Chicago Inn Goes Under Hammer

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The flag of the auctioneer was raised outside the old Briggs House today.

The famous old hostelry is to be torn down to make room for an improved hotel.

Antique hunters, together with buyers of souvenirs thronged the ancient lobby. A big price is expected for such pieces of furniture as the bedstead in which Abraham Lnicoln slept, and the costumer on which he hung his hat.

SECOND NEWS SECTION THE SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS FEATURES

'BABY BANDITS' CONFESS TO HOLDUP

A pair of patched pants led to the discovery and arrest of three alleged bandits who were arraigned in Morals Court today and confessed that they held up the store of Thomas Walley at 3887 Bigelow boulevard, Tuesday.

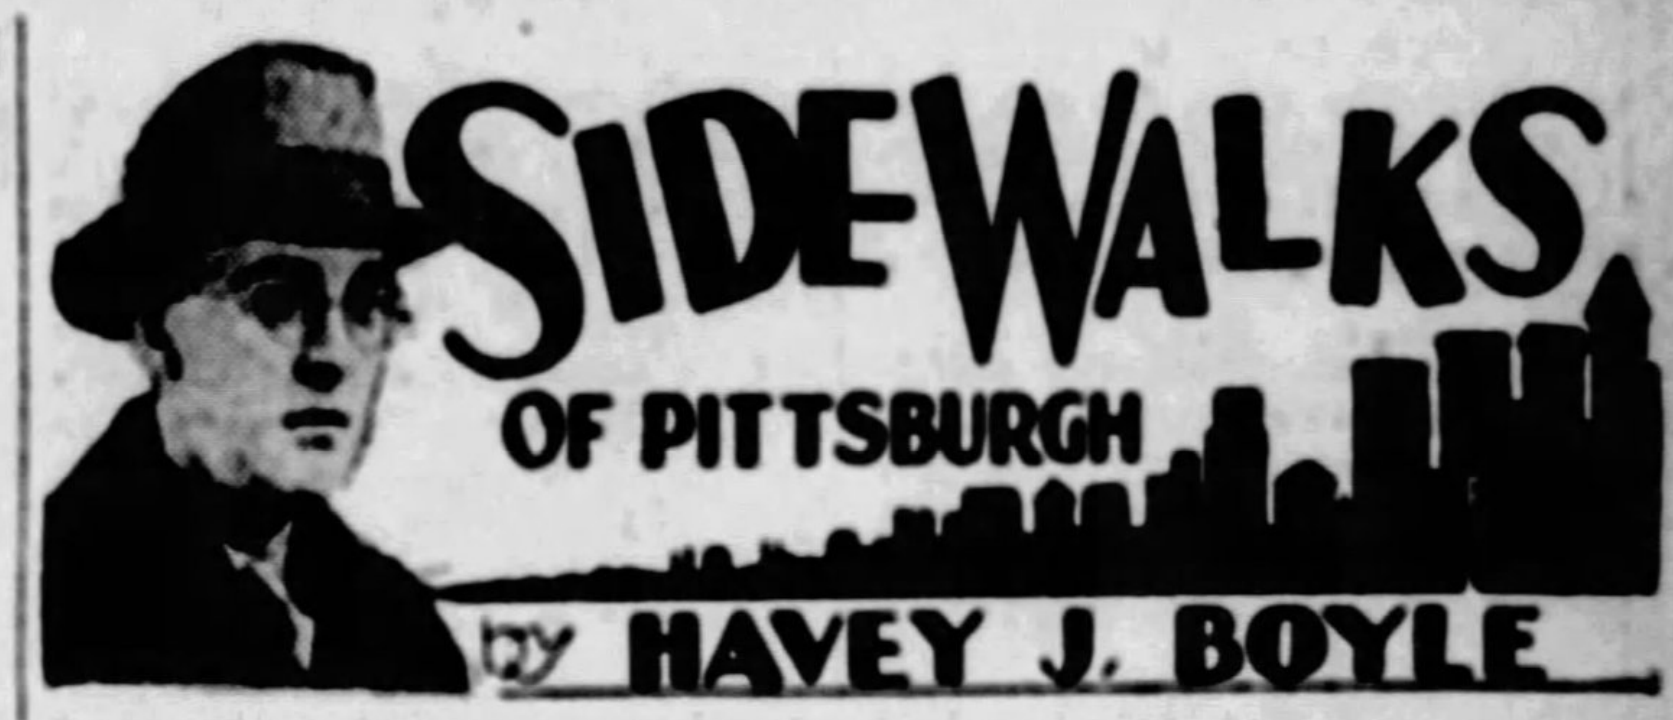
Detectives Eddie O'Rourke and George Franz testified that they were walking along Ridgeway street when they saw a boy who answered generally to the description Walley had given of one of the "baby bandits." They were undecided until they noted that the boy's trousers were patched at the knees, a condition Walley had described.

They arrested the boy, Ignatius Krakoski, 20, of 3370 Ridgeway street, and he led them to his accomplices, Alex Casinlin, 18, of 3024 Paloma street, and James Masonoski, 17, of 329 Herron avenue. In court today they confessed that they had held up the store and escaped with a $135 register which contained $5. Fred Domelewski, 24, storekeeper at 3329 Ridgeway street, to whom the boys said they sold the register, also was arraigned, along with Joe Paduk, 20, of 3213 Brereton avenue, who, detectives said, aided the young trio in auto-stealing activities, of which the boys are suspected.

Magistrate John W. Orie held the five prisoners for further investigation.

M'KEESPORT WOMAN SET FREE BY JUDGE

Emaline Rodgers, 1118 Market street, McKeesport, was released from Allegheny County jail, after a habeas corpus hearing before Judge James B. Drew in Common Pleas Court. The court held evidence insufficient to warrant the charge of keeping a disorderly house, on which she had been sentenced for 30 days by Alderman A. C. Markus of McKeesport.



WHAT puzzles here is that the follow who started saving street car transfers, and then wrote a book about his hobby, never thought of collecting old telephone books as something to pass away dull moments.

HAPPY MORAN, city detective, tells this department about getting a notice from the Los Angeles postmaster which informed Happy that for a two-cent stamp an envelope then in Los Angeles would be delivered to him. Happy sent the stamp and a few days later received a Christmas card from One-Eyed Connolly.

WHERE'S YER TICKET
I AM THE DOCTOR THEY SENT FOR — AT THE RING SIDE

IN THE event you don't know, One-Eyed Connolly is a famous gate-crasher of sporting events, a second edition, however, of the original One-Eyed Connolly who was more famous some 25 years ago.

THE Christmas card which Moran received, incidentally, was one that someone else had sent Connolly. This explained why Mr. Connolly did not get his cards around at the proper time. Naturally, he had to wait until his friends sent them to him before he could in turn pass them out.

EMIL LUDWIG, a noted German biographer, came to Pittsburgh the other night to lecture. Persons anxious to write forcefully and clearly will be well-rewarded by reading "Napoleon," and "Genius and Character," by Ludwig, among several other books with which he has caused a notable stir among men concerned with books.

A FINE SPECIMEN

THE performance of "As You Like It," by Mr. Mantell, will help to dissipate prejudices which keep women away from boxing and wrestling shows. Rosalind and Celia, two girls of high birth, looked on while Orlando got a half-Nelson on the Duke's wrestler. So if such noble girls dared violate the conventions who will say "No," to the moderns?

INCIDENTALLY "As You Like It" has been called one of Shakespeare's pot-boilers, meaning something turned out in a hurry to suit popular demand. Mr. Shaw says the very title shows the Bard's own scorn for the play. However, if that is a pot-boiler then some new name will have to be invented for modern pot-boilers.

YOU would never take Little Mike Butler, of Oakland, as a balloonist or a parachute jumper, but he is one of the best in the country.

The old parachute jumper, as you remember, was a dark-haired man with a waxed mustache, suggesting that before taking off in his parachute he had just posed for a hair-dress or a dandruff eliminator. He used to come around with the circuses in those days when one of the chief questions of the day was: "When does the balloon go up."

LITTLE MIKE BUTLER has taken the dive about 15 times. Butler got his experience as an army balloonist. As such he learned how to release the envelope which spreads out like a huge umbrella to escort the passenger to the ground.

THERE was a time when this was considered a most hazardous undertaking, and men who leaped in parachutes got big pay from the Barnums and Baileys. But one can now engage a parachute jumper for as low as $25 a flop.

To the average person, however, parachute jumping will always seem to be a hard way to make a soft living.

EIGHTY years ago chloroform was used at an operation for the first time. Its use as an anaesthetic was due to Sir James Simpson, the son of an English baker, who lived to become one of the most eminent physicians of his period.

Pat Wants to Know Where Lily Got the Silver Fox Furs

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees down town when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domestic ship sailed smoother for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Staley Drummond pays her bills. Lily and Pat quarrel, Pat leaves the house and Lily goes to France's. Roy Jetterson meets Lily and Drummond on the street.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

BUT Pat did not see the wink or hear the question. His intent blue eyes were fixed on his own wife's face, and under his steady gaze she went red and then dead white.

"I—I haven't bought them yet," she faltered, trying to think up some plausible lie. "I just had them sent out on approval. They—they're much too expensive for me, Pat."

The words were scarcely out of her mouth before the door bell rang, and light, quick footsteps came up the stairs. They could be heard quite plainly through the thin walls of the jerry-built apartment house.

Pat got up and opened the door to his sister, Florence. She was in a raincoat and rubber hat, and her face was reddened by the wind. In her hand she carried a little white paper package.

"Here, Lily, you left your nightie at the house," she said. "And mother asked me to stop in with it on my way to the movies with this new Captain Kidd of mine."

"New beau, hmm?" asked Sadye, getting up from the arm of Roy's chair, and drawing the furs close around her throat. "Just look at these furs, Florence! Aren't they lovely? I'm trying to make Roy buy some like them for me. You tell him how wonderful silver fox is. You ought to know—working in a swell shop like Angouleme's and all!"

Florence shrugged her shoulders. "Yes, they're wonderful all right," she answered. "But you know they're awfully expensive, don't you? And they're higher this year than they were last, when Lily bought hers—"

"Why, she just got her this afternoon!" Sadye's eyes popped open, as she turned to Lily. "You just got yours this afty, didn't you, Lil?"

Scarlet to her eyes, Lily nodded. "I had them sent out on approval," she said weakly, feeling Florence's suspicious eyes upon her.

"I thought you said they were old furs from last year." Florence's voice seemed to come to her from a long way off. "Wasn't that what you told me when you stopped in at the house this afternoon? I'm sure it was."

Lily shook her head. "You misunderstood me," she said, knowing as she did it, that Florence knew she was lying.

She gave her a hard, keen look, and then turned towards the door. "Well, I must go or I won't be in time for the last reel of the picture!" she said in her light, pretty voice. "Good night, Sadye and Good night, Pat—"

She did not say good night to Lily.

Still twittering about the furs, Sayde followed Roy down the stairs a few minutes later, and Pat and Lily were alone.

The little flat seemed very still after the sound of Sadye's full, coarse voice talking gossip and slang and common sense in a perfect stream.

The clock on the mantel-piece ticked sleepily. A shade flapped now and then in the kitchen where a window was open to the night air. In the flat below some one was playing "Roses Are Blooming in Picardy" and softly crooning the home-sick, love-sick words of it.

"Lily," Pat broke the silence, "where did you really get those furs?" He was leaning back in his chair, with his eyes narrowed, looking at them where they lay on the tapestry pillows of the davenport.

Lily frowned. "Oh, Pat, aren't you suspicious and horrid tonight?" she asked him pathetically. "Where do you suppose I got them?"

"I haven't the faintest idea," Pat said bluntly. "You evidently told one story to Florence and another one to Sadye Jetterson—and the one you told Sadye doesn't sound like a likely tale to me. I can't imagine any shop letting the wife of a poor man carry out a couple of furs like those on approval without paying them a penny. . . . It just doesn't sound like the truth to me, Lily."

Lily did some quick thinking. "I can't help that!" she snapped at him. "Just because you think I'm telling you a lie, I'm not a—liar."

She turned on him suddenly. "Where do you think I got them, Mr. Third Degree?" she asked him. "If you're so smart!"

He didn't know. "I'm afraid you charged them the way you charged those brown velvet things at Angouleme's," he said. "And I can't pay for them—that's all. I just can't." He laid his hands, palms upward, on the arms of his chair, as if to show how empty they were.

"I just haven't the money," he explained. "If I had it there's not a thing you'd want for, Girl. Not a thing. I'd buy you everything and anything that your heart desired—and you know it."

Lily just looked at him. "I can't keep the furs," she was thinking dully. "I'll have to take them back to Staley in the morning." It made her positively ill to think of giving them up—the lovely, warm, flattering skins that framed her face in dusky shadow. Next to jewels, all women like furs like Russian sable and ermine and silver fox. And silver fox was Lily's favorite.

"I'll take the skins back to the shop in the morning—first thing," she said aloud, and her voice was hard and cold. "But you'll have to get me something warm to take the place of them if it's just a rabbit's skin to wrap your Baby Bunting in!"

She stared at him resentfully for a minute, then she flung herself face downward among the pillows of the davenport. "Oh, how sick I am of all this—all this wretched poverty of ours!" she wailed. "I can't stand it, I tell you—I can't! I wasn't made for it."

Pat was silent. His pipe had gone out, but he still held it in his teeth as if he did not realize that it was cold.

"All this talk about a fool piston ring that's going to m-m-make us rich as Croesus!" Lily's voice went on, thick with sobs. "Well, I've been married for five months now—and I don't notice any great riches pouring in to us from it! I think you're just loafing down at that shop, that's what I think!"

She sat up and glared at him, her face mottled by her tears.

"I read somewhere that all inventors are dreamers and ne'er-do-wells," she told him. "And I'm beginning to believe it! Here I am, working day after day to keep things going—and all you give me is fifteen bucks a week and a lot of promises. Well, I'm getting pretty sick of all the promises, let me tell you!"

She picked up the beautiful furs, and carrying them in her arms as tenderly as if they were babies, she went into the bedroom and hid them away in the drawer where Sadye Jetterson had found them with her prying eyes and fingers.

"I could smack her!" thought Lily, closing the drawer and locking it.

In the morning when she opened her eyes, Pat was gone.

He had cooked his own breakfast, for the coffee had been made and there was a plate covered with toast crumbs on the corner of the kitchen table.

"Well, he should get his own breakfast," thought Lily, as she bathed and dressed for the day. "A man who doesn't buy his wife any clothes doesn't deserve a lot of service!"

She took down the brown chiffon velvet coat from the closet hooks, and as she slipped into it she remembered with a pang that Pat had given her $75 the day she told him she had paid that much for it.

But, after all, what was one coat for a season? She always had had two or three. That is, until she married Pat.

"Oh, dear!" she sighed aloud to the four walls of the tiny apartment, as she picked up the furs and started out, locking the door behind her.

She appeared at Staley's office at high noon, and almost the instant that she gave her name to the office boy, Staley opened a door marked "MR. DRUMMOND," and beckoned to her.

His private office was a large and handsome room, with a thick rug on the floor, fine pictures on the walls, and very heavy mahogany furniture.

Lily laid the furs in a soft heap on the top of the big desk in the middle of the room before she sat down in the chair he held for her.

"I have to bring these back to you—I can't wear them," she said to him, in a voice that shook, and then she went on to tell him all about Sadye Jetterson and Florence and Pat the night before.

Staley listened to her without a word, turning and turning a lead pencil in his fingers and nodding his head now and then.

When she was through with her story, he got up, hands in pockets, and walked over to the windows, staring out at the sky and the roofs and chimney pots. His voice came to her from over his shoulder:

"Well, you can't go on like this. Putting yourself in a position where those people can worry you and pry into your business, you know. . . . You've got to make up your mind to live according to their lights—or divorce that fellow. It's reached a showdown, I'd say. You take today to think it over and then let me know what you want to do tomorrow, will you?"

He took her out to lunch, bought her white orchids for the shoulder of her coat, a box of chocolates, and the latest novel.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

If you want beautiful hair, ordinary old-time methods of washing will not do. To bring out the real beauty, the hair must be shampooed properly.

Proper shampooing is what makes it soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store. A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

The Embers of Madge's Love for Dicky Refuse to Turn to Dead Ashes

MY mother-in-law gave me no opportunity to reply to her astonishing little speech, even if I had possessed the breath to voice an answer. With quick, steady footsteps she went swiftly out of the room, and the glimpse of her face which I had caught as she turned away from me, told me that the greatest boon I could give her was silence.

So she guessed then—this remarkable, keen-sighted old woman—the thing which I had been at such pains to keep a secret from her, and about which I even had tried to deceive myself. She not only guessed, but knew, that I was not even trying to fan the embers of my love for my husband to life, but was doggedly trying to turn them the ashes they were simulating.

For though I knew that my love for my husband was not wholly dead—the quick, stabbing, foolish pain of jealousy which I had felt at his admiration for Eleanor Lincoln had told me that, yet it was my conclusion, arrived at after weeks of introspection, illuminated with memories of Dicky's awful doubt of me when Grace Draper tried to poison him, and cunningly contrived that I should appear to be guilty of the attempt—that I should be—not happier—but calmer, more at peace, when the last vestige of love for my husband had vanished.

Not that I ever meant to break the pact of outward amity that we had made. For Junior's sake—to give our boy the home with both parents, apparently friends, in it which is the rightful heritage of every child—I meant to go on, until the boy grown a man, would no longer need us. But I wished daily that I could be freed from the unrest which my still lingering love of my husband brought me, and be given the peace of absolute indifference to him.

I had not meant that Dicky's mother ever should discover my feelings, however, and it was with poignant regret that I saw her go away from my room, a pathetic figure, kept erect I knew through sheer will power.

There was nothing to be said or done, however. I knew that she would not refer to the subject again, and I knew also that any attempt of mine to deceive her by pretending a feeling for Dicky which did not exist would be not only useless but cruel.

Glad, indeed, was I, therefore, that the necessity for immediate action was able to banish all unpleasant thoughts from my mind. I hurried downstairs and out to the veranda where Noel and Mary were playing a game of two-handed bridge, with far more attention to each other's faces than to the cards.

"Sorry to interrupt the game," I said, and indeed I was loath to disturb them, but inexplicably I had a distaste for an interview alone with Eleanor Lincoln.

Mary cocked a questioning eye at me, and then threw down her hand and gathered the cards on the table into a pile.

"Credit me with clairvoyance," she said saucily. "You want us to go somewhere with you."

"You are eminently correct, my pretty young seer," I returned. "I am going down to The Larches, to ask Miss Lincoln to come to dinner Saturday night, and I would like to have you both come with me."

Noel arose with alacrity, and I saw Mary's eyes narrow, while over her expressive face flitted a frown. I was sure that the lad's quickness of action had resulted from his desire to be courteous to me, but it was plain that Mary's jealousy had translated it as a wish to see Miss Lincoln.

To Remove Coffee Stains

Coffee stains should be rubbed gentl, with a little glycerine and then rinsed in luke-warm water. Press with a warm iron on the wrong side to dry.

It's as simple as this
...No acids...No decay!

HERE is the way most tooth decay and gum infections begin. Tiny particles of food lodge in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line—the line where teeth and gums meet. These ferment. Acids are formed which attack the teeth and gums. Infection sets in, causing decay and often gum irritations.

You can prevent this and reduce the peril of Pyorrhea by using Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Your dentist will tell you that Milk of Magnesia is a safe, scientific means of counteracting the acids which attack the teeth and gums. Squibb's Dental Cream protects you from the threat of acids, keeps the teeth beautifully clean and lustrous and preserves healthy gums. On sale at all drug stores, 40c a large tube.

Beware the Danger of Fondling Pet Animals

DR COPELAND

A CITIZEN of New Hampshire is disturbed about the practice of permitting children to take their pet cats and dogs to bed with them. He thinks it is detrimental to health to permit animals to share the room and bed of young children. He was shocked recently to see a child kissing a dog on its mouth.

I am with you, dear friend. It isn't wise or safe to make bedfellows of pet animals. It is disgusting for children to shower kisses upon the faces of animals.

There is a popular idea that a cat can "suck the air" of a child and cause its death. I don't believe this, but it is a fact, of course, that an animal close to the face can help to exhaust the air. It can rob the child of a lot of precious oxygen.

All pets are looked upon with suspicion as possible carriers of disease. In its spare time a cat or dog wanders far from home and may bring back germs or pests which are dangerous.

One trouble with all animal pets is the possibility of their doing harm in moments of anger. The latent ferocity of the beast must not be overlooked. But it is not alone the angry outburst of the animal that is to be feared. Some big dogs and cats, even in playful spirit, may inflict serious injury to a child.

The human eye is a very delicate, as well as vitally important organ. It has remarkable power of resistance against accident and disease. In spite of this, however, a tiny scratch may be infected and produce results which end in loss of sight.

A friendly cat or dog may use its paw in such a way as to permit the claw to strike the eyeball. Then there may be serious secondary effects.

I love animals and it would make me feel sad if two dogs at my farm had to be destroyed because of any menace they might offer. But much as I love them, I realize how necessary it is to keep them more or less at arm's length. It is hard to do this when in their joy they come at me in a cyclonic greeting.

But it is wise to be extremely careful about pets which your children are to have. You must be very sure of the temper and playfulness of the animals.

But, no matter how many pets you have about the place, by no means permit the children to take them to bed with them. That is no place for animals.

You can love a cat or dog without fondling and kissing it. Treat it kindly and affectionately of course, but keep all the kisses for a more worthy recipent.

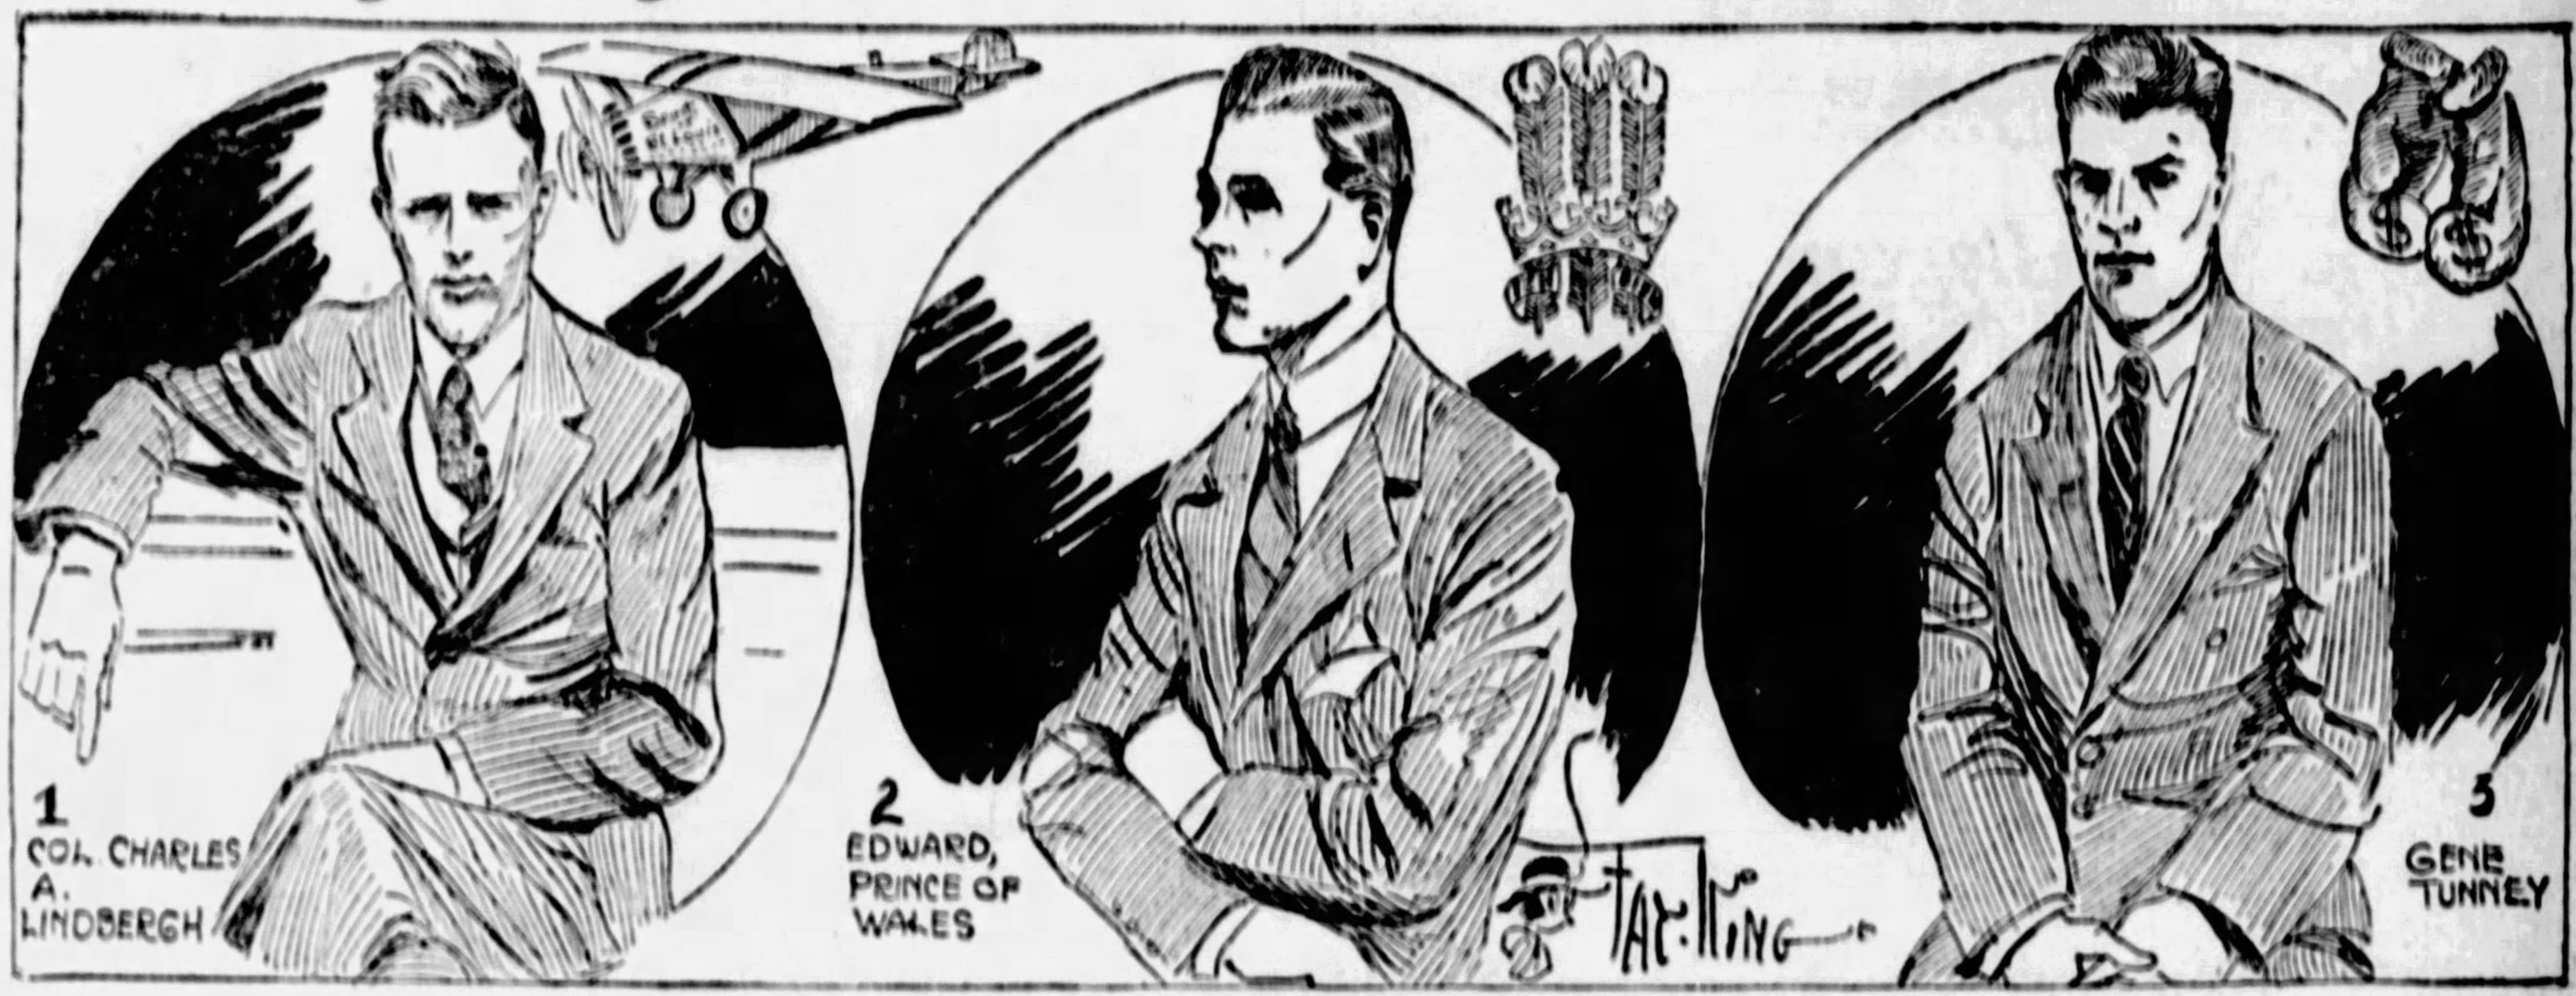
Fay King Tells of World's 3 Star Bachelors



By FAY KING

ROMANTIC young misses who take an interest in bachelor lists must often consider the outstanding young eligibles whose final matrimonial ventures will interest everyone.

Perhaps the three outstanding young men whose probable marriages are bound to create quite a stir are Lindy, the Prince of Wales and Tunney.

It happens that these three young men are blonds, but I am thinking that young women who seem to prefer dark young men would not hesitate to prefer blond in their cases.

Until our Lindy made his epic flight to Paris, the Prince of Wales was the most romantic young man in public life.

But the Prince of Wales, by accident of birth, was set in his place of romantic glory.

Lindy through his own courage and daring has more or less eclipsed the place which the Prince alone held in the realm of romance.

Gene Tunney is another young man who, through his own achievement, has risen to the millionaire class, and is an outstanding figure of good, clean, young manhood who will be a splendid catch for some young miss.

It so happens, however, that these three desirable young eligibles seem not inclined to marry.

Lindy declares that aviation is his life work and he does not want to have a wife worried.

The Prince of Wales has been reported engaged to a dozen princesses who have since married and now have growing families, while he continues to be England's gay bachelor.

Tunney declares that no champion should marry until he retires from the ring.

But fortunately the world is full of other attractive and lovable young men who do not feel about getting married as those do.

And remember this is leap year, girls!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

ABOUT this time all that is left of Father's New Year's "bonus" is the BONE.

The time is not far off when a girl will have to promise a man a diamond wrist-watch and vow not to tell his mother, before he will permit her to kiss him.

* * *

When a woman keeps too tight a clutch on a man or the steering-wheel, it is a sign that she is not sure of her "control."

HELEN ROWLAND

Unrequited love is the most beneficent thing in a man's life. It inspires him to everything from song and poetry to heroism and achievement. And, alas, it is the only love that he never forgets!

When the old-fashioned girl threatened to elope, her Father said "Tut, tut!" and promptly locked her up. Nowadays, Father says "Tut, tut!"—but he leaves the window open.

Now that the woman who brandished a rolling pin and the girl who lifted her skirts at sight of a mouse are passee, they have found the back-seat driver. When men want something to joke about, the Lord will always provide—a woman!

It is not so often the "lure" outside the home that tempts a man to play truant, as it is the long, monotonous LULL inside it.

Men used to make love with far more art and ardor in the old days; but then the wine was better, the music sweeter, and the women harder to please.

When you picture him lying on a stretcher or mangled under a taxicab every time he's five minutes late—it's love!

Many a man leaves home because he is tired of being secretly regarded as a harmless lowbrow.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Friday, February 3

Oh the good you do the tales do not go far, but miles away they know how bad you are.
—LOTUS LEAVES.

THIS day carries many unfavorable aspects, according to the adverse position of several important planets. While Jupiter holds a propitious ray and may help money matters and bring other benefits, especially in the personal relations, yet there are dangers of fraud, treachery and evil and malicious report.

Be cautious with all writings and be most circumspect, lest sensational rumor assail the character. There is augury for sudden and spectacular movements.

Those whose birthday it is may look for certain benefits, perhaps in money matters and other valued connections, but the personal affairs seem beset with uncertainties. Sudden moves, perhaps sensational, are seen in connection with personal relations. Be discreet.

A child born on this day should have many excellent traits and capabilities, but may reach the limelight through some spectacular achievement.

Thousands of others doubted, too

—until they made this personal health test

THEY, too, called Postum "an invalid's drink." And they didn't need medicine—not they! They were all right—except that they didn't sleep as soundly as they should, and were tired and draggy in the morning, and a bit nervous and headachy at times. They felt just bad enough not to feel good.

Then they found this natural way to better health! For thirty days, they drank Postum with their meals, in place of beverages containing the drug caffein. They found they missed nothing in enjoyment—that Postum's smooth, full-bodied flavor was a delight in itself. And they found that, with Postum as their regular mealtime drink, sleeplessness and nervousness vanished. Headaches and indigestion disappeared.

Needless to say, these Postum "doubters" were convinced. Postum became their mealtime drink forever after!

Convince yourself!

Don't let one slip in diet stand between you and the joy of perfect health! Get Postum at your grocer's—try it for thirty days! Then judge its value by your own physical gains! Postum comes in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of artificial stimulants in them. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to make. Saves about $2

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and hoarseness.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Rinso
The Granulated soap

Read this Sherrod St. woman's letter

"I certainly am glad my grocer got me to try Rinso!

"Why, Rinso is so good in our water that you don't have to do the slightest bit of hard rubbing—all the dirt soaks right out in the rich, safe suds. Even boiling isn't necessary, the clothes always turn out so snowy and new-looking.

"Besides, with Rinso I don't have to put my hands in hot suds at all — now they never get red! It certainly is a blessing!

"I use Rinso for all my cleaning now—dishes, floors, linoleum, woodwork, etc. It's easier—and there's no grit in it."

MRS. FRANK FARMERIE,
4411 Sherrod St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this one.

For whiter clothes and "no-work" washdays

... try this safe hard-water soap

THE whitest week's wash you ever saw, with this famous hard-water soap! Dirt and stains are loosened so quickly in its rich, safe suds.

See how the suds last—for this hard-water soap makes the hardest water soft as rain.

And Rinso's lively suds rinse off in a jiffy, and carry all the dirt along! See the whiteness of the clothes that come from washer or tub—the brightness!

Why, even boiling isn't necessary any more. Rinso alone—without the help of bar soaps, chips, powders or softeners—washes clothes whiter.

Marvelous in washers!

Because it washes clothes whiter, 32,000 washing machine demonstrators use Rinso. And the makers of 32 leading washers say "Use Rinso for safety."

You get your full money's worth when you buy Rinso, the granulated soap—it's so compact. Just feel how weighty the package is. For best results, follow the easy directions on the package.

Great for tubs, too!

Rinso soaks clothes whiter and brighter than you could scrub them. The grimiest edges become snowy with little or no rubbing. This gentle way saves the clothes, and your hands, too.

Next washday try Rinso, the granulated hard-water soap! Get the BIG package.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Simplicity Features Marriage of Elizabeth Lewis to John H. Follansbee at Amberson Ave. Home

A LARGE church wedding is a very impressive occasion, perhaps, but there is much of simplicity and beauty in a small home ceremony, with just one's own family and closest friends at hand. And that is the sort of wedding which Elizabeth Lewis and John Haynes Follansbee are to have this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Eliazbeth, you know, is the daughter of Mrs. Laura Powell Lewis, of Amberson avenue, and the ceremony will, of course, be performed in her home, with the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Elizabeth is to be given away by her grandfather, Wenman A. Lewis, and she is to wear a gown of white satin and rose point lace. Her veil is of the same lace, arranged in cap effect, and she is to carry white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Her maid of honor, Rebecca Follansbee, sister of the bridegroom, is going to wear a pretty frock of satin in two tones of pink, and she will carry a Dresden bouquet of flowers in the coral shades. Robert Kerr Follansbee will he his brother's best man.

A small reception and dinner will follow the ceremony. About 22 will be seated at the bridal table, which is to be decorated with roses and spring flowers.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Follansbee expect to live in Wilkins avenue and will be at home there after their trip.

One of the best attended performances the Stage and Play Society has ever given was last night's in Carnegie Music Hall. At the last moment, one of the three plays scheduled, "The Valiant," was canceled, and in its place one of the dramatic works of Carnegie Institute of Technology drama students was substituted. The others were, you recall, "Margaret in Naxos," written by Carroll Fitzhugh, president of the society, and "Double Demon."

Mr. Fitzhugh's story is that of a deserter deserted, and he directed the small cast himself. Mrs. Joseph Dilworth, Harold Geoghegan, both of whom have taken part in many of the society's productions, and a comparative newcomer, Mrs. Percy G. Kammerer, took part.

Perhaps you know that the theme of "Double Demon" is the troubles of a jury which consists of 11 women and one lone man. George W. Nicola took the masculine role and the women in the cast were Mrs. George Pomeroy Bassett, Jr., as foreman of the jury; Mrs. Frank Edmundson, Mrs. Howard K. Burgwin, Mrs. Herschel A. Ingram, Mrs. Charles F. C. Arensberg, Elizabeth Lupton Scott, Elizabeth Macfarlane, Geraldine West, Eleanor Grier, Mrs. John Henry King Burgwin and Mrs. Charles H. Matthews, Jr. John L. McK. Yardley had a small tole and his wife was the director.

The Tech play was "Checkmate," written and directed by Maxine Finsterwald, with a cast which included Arne Boesen, Irma Weinberg and Florence Wakefield.

The general stage managers for the production were Mrs. H. Allen Machesney and Walter B. Edmundson, and at the door were Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby, Madeline McClintock and A. Fielder Clarke.

Quite a few Pittsburghers went East for the wedding of Barbara Brokaw and Leonard Jarvis Cushing, which took place yesterday afternoon in St. Thomas' Church, New York. Barbara, who was given in marriage by her father, Irving Brokaw, wore a medieval gown of cream satin and rose point lace, with a train of satin hung from the hips. From the shoulders fell rose point lace which had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Isaac Vail Brokaw, and also her sister, Mrs. Richard Derby Tucker, the former Mimi Brokaw. Her veil was of tulle and she carried calla lilies.

Mrs. Tucker was her sister's matron of honor, and her gown was also of medieval design, in purple velvet, with a high pointed bonnet of dull gold net veiled in brown tulle. Similar creations in crimson velvet were worn by the bridesmaids, including Craigie McKay and Mrs. Richard Graham Croft, of Pittsburgh; Princess Lobkowicz, Mrs. Lewis R. Stuyvesant, Mrs. T. Reed Vreeland, Marion DeRham, Margaret A. Tucker and Alice L. Beadleston.

Harry Cooke Cushing III was his brother's best man and the ushers included Gilbert W. Kahn, Cornelius S. Lee, Jr., James Russell Lowell, Walter Woodruff, and Robert I. Powell, of New York; Richard W. Croft, of Pittsburgh; William E. Lee, of Memphis, and Charles Denby, Jr., of Philadelphia, who is, you remember, the husband of Rosamond Reed.

The young Cushings will spend two months in the West Indies and after they come home they will occupy the house on the Brokaw country place at Mill Neck, Long Island. Next winter they will live in New York.

CARRICK MOTHERS BURN CLUBHOUSE MORTGAGE

Yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the Carrick Mothers' Club, for the fifteenth anniversary was celebrated and the mortgage on the club house was burned, both with fitting ceremony. A "packed house" was on hand for the program of which Mrs. Howard Parker was in charge. There was a three-tiered birthday cake of white with 15 yellow candles, which were lighted by the presidents, Mrs. John M. Phillips, founder and honorary president of the organization, lighting the first five for the years in which she was at the wheel. Each president, too, told something of what had occurred during her administration and from the birthday candles was set aflame the mortgage which was burned on a platter especially painted and donated for the occasion by Mrs. D. J. Smith. Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. George Gearing, the latter the original building committee chairman, conducted this bit of ceremony. Mrs. Sarah R. Pierce, who followed Mrs. Phillips in office, was the war president, and it was during her year that the first money was set aside towards a club home. Mrs. Ellsworth C. Trott, Mrs. Susan B. Kirk and Mrs. Frank B. Beech then spoke, the last named recalling the surplus from the Christmas seals sale which enabled the club to maintain a public health nurse in the school. During Mrs. John T. Anderson's regime the tenth anniversary was celebrated and the remodeling was begun on the club property with a fund of only $2,000 on hand. The club property today is worth $20,000. Mrs. William Colteryahn's term saw the club house dedicated. Mrs. E. R. Davis told of having the largest number of babies at the annual baby day when her own grandson was a prize winner. A literary department was formed and the club became affiliated with the general federation during Mrs. Clyde C. Cain's year, and the following year, when Mrs. W. H. McCombs was at the head, a junior auxiliary to the already thriving and 16-year-old Girls' Auxiliary was formed and a scholarship, which is now supporting a Carrick girl at Pitt, was established. To Mrs. M. A. Keffer, the present encumbent, fell the task of relating the foundling of a club choral and the clearing of the debt. Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, president of the Congress of Clubs, and Mrs. R. B. Perry, county federation president, both brought felicitations, and there was music of the five-year periods by Mrs. Mildred Reinheimer, Mrs. Robert Phillips, Mrs. Bruce McCombs Allen and the choral.

If Over-Fat
Try this easy way
To Lose It

Do it for beauty's sake, for new health and fitness. If you have tried the hard ways without success, learn what this pleasant way can do.

Some twenty years ago research men discovered a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of certain elements which turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. They found and widely tested a way to combat that cause.

Then that method was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. The formula is given in every box, also the reasons for results. Users know what they are taking, and why.

Marmola has been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results. That is one reason why excess fat has become almost the exception.

Abnormal exercise or diet is not advised, though moderation helps. Users of Marmola simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. They know why it comes down—in a natural way—so they have no fear of harm.

Try this modern method, which so many have employed for so long. Watch the results for a little while and judge for yourself what they mean to you. Do this now. Go order a box today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out he will get them at once from his jobber.

SHOW FILM OF PLANT LIFE

Unusual pictures of plant life, taken with a specially designed slow-motion camera, will be shown in Carnegie Museum Lecture Hall at 8:15 o'clock tonight by Arthur C. Pillsbury, naturalist and lecturer. The lecture is open to the public.

Mr. Pillsbury devised a clockwork mechanism, whereby exposures could be taken at regular intervals as the blossom developed, compressing into a minute the growth which requires perhaps a week. Flowers, are said to open at certain hours, live a certain span, and go to sleep at almost exactly the same time from "generation unto generation." This lecture is one of the Carnegie Museum Thursday evening lectures.

POP, BOB PLAN SCHOOL

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Coaches Robert Zuppke, of the University of Illinois, and Glenn Warner, of Stanford University, have announced that they will jointly conduct a two weeks' coaching school for football at Bucknell University at Lewistown, Pa., this summer.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

ANNOUNCEMENT by Tex Rickard that Jack Dempsey is through and Gene Tunney will meet the winner of his current heavyweight elimination tournament does not come as a surprise.

For months it has been known by persons on the inside that Jack Sharkey would meet Gene Tunney this summer in a titular bout. The promise is said to have been made Sharkey before he fought Dempsey last summer in the bout in which he slugged it out with the former champion and went down to a questionable knockout defeat, claiming a foul, in the seventh round.

That bout made Dempsey stand up as a formidable opponent for Tunney in their return match for a record gate at Chicago in September. Sharkey has had only one bout since, a draw affair with Tom Heeney recently. Now he is signed to box Johnny Risko, whom he already has beaten once, and then he is to box the winner of a bout between Jack Delaney and Heeney. He'll come through and meet Tunney, as planned almost a year ago.

DEMPSEY has had his fling and it has been a merry and profitable one. He really would be foolish not to quit now while the quitting is good. He has a lot of money that he can enjoy while he retains his health. Physically he has reached the stage where it is a hardship for him to train for a bout and a task to go through a hard engagement. His legs were a hollow mockery of their former stout selves in his two bouts with Tunney and the melee with Sharkey. Whereas he formerly had the spring of a tiger in his underpinnings, he now is a shambling, stumbling hulk who flounders badly off balance whenever he misses a punch. His eyes, reported to be bad, were cut and puffed in both of his fights with Tunney and he also absorbed other severe head punishment in these battles, while Sharkey almost knocked him out in the first round of their bout.

Dempsey has been too great a champion to go on when it is unnecessary and risk defeat by men who couldn't have entered the same arena with him when he was DEMPSEY. 'Tis well that he is heeding the advice of his friends and bidding the ring adieu at this time. He always will be remembered for the gamester and thrill-maker that he was, and the sporting world will be spared the spectacle of the former king of them all groveling in the resin after taking a few too many on the chin.

Death Ends Old Query

By LAWRENCE R. STEWART.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 2.—The death yesterday at Beaver Falls of Col. Joe Thompson permits a revelation of the facts in the football controversy waged in Western Pennsylvania for a quarter of a century, primarily between partisans of Jefferson and Geneva colleges, which had its expression in the famous query, "Who tackled Joe Thompson?" Prompted by an alleged illegal tackle of the famed Joe, then a Geneva player, by a W. and J. substitute in a memorial game at College Field on November 14, 1903, the contest became the vortex of a controversy that rippled throughout this district for years and will go down in sectional football history as the most notable one of its kind and hitherto an unsettled and moot situation.

Briefly, the game, played before a huge crowd that numbered as many supporters of the then famous Geneva team, from the Beaver Valley, as of W. and J., had been bitterly fought through wrangling delays, and with darkness settling on the field the Presidents were ahead by a score of 6 to 0.

WENT AROUND END

Thompson in the semi-darkness got around a Wash-Jeff end and was speeding goalward when he was brought down near the sidelines either by Stuffy McDonough, W. and J. quarterback and safety man, or by a W. and J. substitute, who leaped onto the field. This man was said by many to have been Ernest Brooks, substitute quarterback.

The writer, years after the game, and when the controversy was merely a memory to many football fans, sought and secured from Thompson and the late William (Budget) Seaman, W. and J. coach, what they solemnly avowed were the facts in the case. It was only on condition that their stories should not be made public while they lived that they were given.

Seaman readily admitted potential guilt in the case to the extent that he had instructed Brooks to make a sideline tackle if Thompson got away in the dusk and had passed the legal W. and J. players. "I knew that no one on our team could catch Joe," said Seaman, "and instructed Brooks to prepare for the emergency. McDonough when he saw the fleet Joe coming down the field started to run him to the sidelines.

"In those days the substitutes instead of sitting on a bench, followed the plays up and down the sidelines wrapped in blankets. McDonough finally made a flying tackle of Thompson and brought him down directly in the front of Brooks, who had stripped off his blanket ready to make the tackle if McDonough failed. Doubtless many thought Brooks had tackled Joe, but there is no question that McDonough got him. If Stuffy had not got him Brooks surely would."

JOE UNCERTAIN

Thompson was somewhat less certain than Seaman about the facts. "The tackle was made so close to the sideline and the W. and J. players," said Joe, "that I landed in the crowd, in a perfect mess of players, substitutes and spectators. I was not certain at first who had tackled me. McDonough and Brooks were both on the ground almost beside me. Either could have got me, but, while I won't make a positive admission, I am inclined to believe that the tackle may have been legal."

That was as far as Thompson would go. Affidavits flew thick and fast after the game. McDonough and Brooks both swore that the former had made the tackle. Texas Moose, coach of the old W. U. P. team, who was a lineman; Manager Barnes of Geneva and others likewise swore that Brooks brought down Joe. Thompson took no part in the broil and made no public definite statement one way or the other.

But the controversy raged far and wide, newspapers printed columns about it and the rank and file of football fans discussed it for years. Thompson never permitted the affair to influence his relations with W. and J., for which institution he always had a friendly feeling.

HOCKEY

ly warm welcome. In the comparatively short period of two years the attendance figures at Madison Square Garden have increased from a couple hundred ushers to enthusiastic throngs of 17,000.

In Pittsburgh, where amateur hockey went over like the proverbial million dollars, the pro game has proved such a flop that an option on the Pittsburgh franchise and players has been sold, preliminary to the transferring of the Pirate club to Philadelphia for the 1928-29 season.

A brief history of local hockey finds a parallel in the careers of business and professional men who, after a hard struggle, achieve the top only to retire. After engaging independent sextets in exhibition games for several years, local skaters were entered in the U. S. Amateur Hockey Association. Pittsburgh's entry was known as the Yellow Jackets, and in winning league banners the Jackets raised Pittsburgh hockey to the highest plane, in the matter of popular interest, attendance and achievement, that the ice game here ever has known. To satisfy the demand of local fans for more amateur hockey, Duquesne Garden placed two teams in the league race in the 1925-26 season, the second entry being known as the Hornets.

ENTERED PRO LEAGUE

In 1926, when the National Professional League was reorganized and expanded to include American cities rated worthy of a franchise, Pittsburgh hockey reaped the reward for its diligent upward climb. The Steel City had given every indication of being able to do credit to a franchise in the fastest league ever formed—Pittsburgh had reached the hockey peak.

And today Pittsburgh hockey is on the verge of going into indefinite retirement. Yesterday, I. O. Wener, president of the Arrows Club of Philadelphia, announced that he had purchased the Pittsburgh franchise and players to take them to the Quaker City next season, and that only a few minor legal details remained to be disposed of. Wener's announcement was followed by a declaration by Frank Calder, National League president, that the Philadelphia club had purchased the Pittsburgh hockey holdings for $150,000, and that the legal detail to which Wener referred was the ratification of the transfer by the league directors. In view of the fact that pro hockey has "gone across" in New York with such a bang, it is generally believed that the ratification of the transfer will be readily accorded. The fact that amateur hockey is not enjoying any great success in Philadelphia probably will be in Wener's favor.

years both as a player and a manager. Scranton is mourning the passing of one of its foremost citizens. Wherever men gather the sole topic of conversation is the fact that Hughey is dead.

Among those who sent messages of condolence were:

John Heydler, president of the National League; Charles E. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White-sox; Frank A. Navin of the Detroit Tigers, the team which Mr. Jennings managed for 14 years; Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, from Tampa, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Connie Mack, the former part owner and manager of the Philadelphia Athletics; Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds; Minooka Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland catcher, and who is now on the roster of the St. Louis Browns; Owen (Donie) Bush, Pirate manager, former Detroit star, who often stated that it was Hughey Jennings who developed him as a major league star; Harry Stevens of New York City, who holds the contract for all catering concessions at the Polo Grounds; Pep Young of Philadelphia and Dick Kinsella of Springfield, Ill.

The present golf champion of Penn State College is a freshman, Sam Parks of Pittsburgh. Parks will not be eligible for the college team until next year, but is regarded as a fixture on the 1929 team.

Harry Stansbury of West Virginia University is listed among those who will make the trip, by the way.

"I HAVE other plans for the summer, as I expect to be busy with our coaching school," said the Panther mentor. "It is to be held during the summer months, and basketball and track may be included as well as football. It will be conducted for the benefit of all high school and college coaches who wish to attend.

"Brief observation will convince any one that there is a great need for better coaching at some of the high schools and smaller colleges, and if there is anything that we can teach to the coaches of those institutions in order to improve them we shall be very glad to do it. The school will be open to all high school and college coaches who wish to attend."

A similar school was conducted at Pitt in 1921 and 1922, when Coach Sutherland gave instructions in football, Max Carey of the Pirates in baseball, Frank Shea in track sports and Dr. H. Clifford Carlson in basketball. The school was a great success, and it is felt that there is need for another of the same sort, especially in football.

Alec Fox

MENTION of football at Pitt brings to mind the fact that the first name of the Panthers' new football captain for next season has been generally misspelled. The Blue and Gold leader requests a correction. His name is Alec Fox, not "Alex" as he has been called heretofore. Alec is not a contraction of Alexander, but is his full first name.

New Castle, the home of the crack guard, is justly proud of Fox, as he is the first resident of that city to rise to the distinction of being elected captain of any Pitt athletic team, though Bill Horner, of the same town, was a good football quarterback for the Panthers in 1918, and another product, Dr. John B. McConaghy, while playing shortstop in 1913, proved himself one of the best baseball players that Pitt ever had.

NEW CASTLE HIGH SCHOOL is turning out high-class athletic material these days, as proved by the success of Fox at Pitt.

The Panther coaches admit that he became a star lineman here though weighing only 175 pounds, mainly because, in addition to being aggressive and full of fight, he was much better drilled in the fundamentals than the average incoming youngster, thanks to the splendid coaching he received at New Castle High, where Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and Faculty Athletic Manager Ralph Gardener have a fine system of team work in operation.

Rabbit Maranville

THAT Manager Bill McKechnie of the St. Louis Nationals is acting wisely in retaining Rabbit Maranville for this year in the belief that the former Pirate shortfielder still has plenty of good baseball left in him, is indicated by the showing made by Maranville in the International League last year before being picked up by the Cards.

The official fielding averages of the International circuit, made public today, show that the Rabbit was one of the most reliable fielders in the loop. He led the regular second basemen with an average of .976, having 201 putouts, 244 assists and only 11 errors in 75 games, and in 61 games at shortstop he was second only to Andy Cohen, the new Giant, having an average of .961 to Cohen's .963.

In the shortfield Maranville accepted 128 putouts, 196 assists and foozled only 13 times.

OTHER fielding averages in the International of interest to fans of this district are: Outfielder Al Tyson, .983; Outfielder Cliff Lee, former Pirate, .972; Pitcher Al Mamaux, ex-Dormont citizen and former Pirate, a perfect mark through accepting 7 putouts and 66 assists in 42 games without an error; Pitcher Leo Mangum, ex-Pirate, 18 putouts and 64 assists in 35 games without an error. Pitcher Jim Bagby, ex-Pirate, .958 in 30 games, and Catcher Bill Skiff, ex-Pirate, .979 in 87 games.

Rickard is continuing with his plans today with Dempsey counted out for the present at least.

That fight will be in June, with the best of the four contenders at present in sight. These are Delaney, Sharkey, Heeney and Risko.

New York has held the inside edge as the site of the June fight, but Rickard has mentioned London, as well as a prominent Canadian city, Philadelphia and Chicago as possible contenders for the big bout.

"Dempsey thinks it not advisable to engage in any further contests," said Rickard.

"I regret that Dempsey thinks it inadvisable again to compete for the heavyweight championship. I am sure the followers of boxing throughout the world will also regret his passing."

Tunney's reaction was similarly brief.

"Dempsey's retirement is of more concern to Rickard than it is to me. All he has to do is to supply boxers and I will do the boxing."

To a large share of the world of fight fans, Dempsey was the best of them all. To everyone who had an interest in the ring, he was a colorful figure, one not easily forgotten.

SHOTS and PASSES

by JULIUS LEVIN

STRENGTHENED by the addition of Petey (Jersey) Siegle, former A. P. Moore Club and Sharon star, the Sumner Somerman Club will strive to take sole possession of first place in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League tonight when it meets its sectional rival, the Siano Club, on the Columbus Temple floor.

Neither the Somermans nor the Sianos have suffered a defeat in the second half of the P. & O. League race so far and both will be out tonight determined to continue their winning streaks.

The Sianos, showing steady improvement with each game, have scored eight successive league victories, winning four in a row during the closing stages of the first-half schedule and the same number to start the second half.

The announcement that the Somermans have signed Siegle to hold down a forward position has met with hearty approval of the Somerman supporters and many of his friends will be out to give him a warm welcome tonight. Siegle has been playing a brilliant role for the Protected Home Circle quintet of Sharon and his presence with the Somermans at this stage of the season bolsters them for the dash down the home stretch. A heady player at all times and one of the best shots in this vicinity, Siegle should prove himself a tower of strength to the Somermans.

THE Goslins may not win the Allegheny County League championship in the second round of play, but the South Siders have in Norman McVickers, popular Mon City guard, one of the best basketball stars playing in this locality.

Starting out in professional basketball as a member of the McKeesport Cyclers, later going to the Pittsburgh Morrys, McVickers has benefitted greatly by his long experience in the money ranks and is playing a brilliant game for the Goslins.

That Tom Goslin made a wise move in obtaining the services of this star easily has been shown by the manner in which the Tube City veteran has conducted himself in the Allegheny County League to date.

Against the Enoch Rauhs last Tuesday night, McVickers all but defeated the Columbus Temple favorites single-handed. A crack shot who must be watched at all times and a splendid floor man, McVickers was a consistent source of worry to the Rauhs. He is without the least doubt one of the best guards playing independent basketball hereabouts this season.

At the French Lick meeting representatives from the major and minor leagues adopted several recommendations, including such as the raising of the draft price for all classes of minor leaguers and exempting certain players from selection. They were to be placed formally before the minor league meeting at Dallas, Tex., last December, but were not brought up. Approval of the American League owners was expected yesterday, but the entire matter was again referred to the advisory board. The American League owners, however, intimated they favor most of the recommendations.

The man outside is not so comfortable

3 out of 5 Yellow cab drivers said:

"We keep off rheumatism this way"

YOU have to just sit and take it—rain, snow, biting wind—hands gripped to the wheel until your arms and shoulders are numb!

Not so good for the old driving muscles! That left arm and elbow! It catches everything! After a day in the rain or snow, it's as wet as if you'd held it under a water tap. You've got to watch yourself or the first thing you know you're laid up with an attack of rheumatism.

We asked the drivers of Yellow taxicabs in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Newark, how they avoid the effects of exposure to wet and cold.

Three out of five said they use Sloan's.

When they are damp and chilled from hours of driving in snow or rain, they apply Sloan's over their backs, arms, shoulders and legs—and they never have a bit of trouble with stiffness or pain in the muscles.

One of the Yellow taxi drivers questioned. 3 out of 5 told us that they use Sloan's to ward off the effects of exposure and strain

In every trade hard workers praise this remarkable remedy

In every trade where men and women work hard with their muscles, or where they are exposed to dampness or to extremes of heat or cold, you hear praise of Sloan's Liniment.

A brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern tells this story of the quick relief that Sloan's gave to a sprain and a wrenched ligament:

"I fell off the top of a box car on my left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose. I suffered considerable pain for about forty-eight hours. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It relieved the pain right away. It is now fifty-three hours since I was hurt. I have no pain at all to speak of. The swelling has nearly all gone down. I think it is the best liniment I have ever used. I suggest that anybody having a sprain get a bottle and apply it according to directions, and they will never be sorry." Harry M. Hall, Belle Plaine, Iowa.

Sloan's is sure—quick

No one should ever be without Sloan's Liniment in the house. It's the best first aid in case of a sprain, a strain, a wrench or a bruise. It works by the surest, most scientific method known for relieving pain. It stirs up the circulation—sends new blood to the place where the pain is—gives you quick, positive relief. At any druggist's—and many other stores besides—you can get a bottle that will last you a long time for 35 cents. Use Sloan's Liniment for:

Rheumatism Lame Muscles
Sciatica Stiff Neck
Lumbago Colds and Neuralgia Congestions
Sprains and Bruises

Read what this doctor says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

SLOAN'S Endorsed universally by those who do the world's hard work

THERE is to be a revival of the University of Pittsburgh's coaching school the coming summer, Posibly it will take in basketball and track as well as football, but in any event there will be a school for gridiron coaches, at least, and Dr. John B. Sutherland, head football coach at the university, will have charge of that part of it.

IMPOSSIBLE SPARE

HOW TO MAKE 'EM AND MISS 'EM

The Votel brothers set up these pins for the photographer to show how it is possible to "get the bundle" and how it is impossible and well nigh impossible to mark. The picture of the perfect strike hit shows how the ball must strike in the 1-3 pocket to make certain of the full count. The posed impossible spare shows only the end pins in the back row, known as Nos. 7 and 10, standing. It is possible to get only one of these pins on the second ball. The other tough shot illustrated is an almost impossible spare. Now and then it is made. One of the Votels once won a deciding match in the Metropolitan League by pulling such a spare.

FAMOUS ON MAPLE ALLEYS

The brothers Votel of East Pittsburgh, Eddie and Harry, are two of the most famous bowlers in the country. Eddie was the A. B. C. singles champion in 1926, and both have been consistent winners in events in this section. They conduct their own alleys in East Pittsburgh and maintain an active playing interest in the sport.

MATTER OF FORM

Notice how Eddie Votel holds the ball as he prepares to crash the pins, as compared with the stance of his brother at the left. It's all a matter of form and each gets good results in his own way. The Votels roll with the Kokomo Kids and are leading the Allegheny County League race. Eddie had one of his best years in 1926, when he won the Tri-State tournament singles with a total of 686 and then went to Toledo and won the A. B. C. tournament with a count of 731.

Cleveland Obtains Littell

By JULIUS LEVIN.

ANOTHER local basketball player is going to the Big Time. He is Whitey Littell, one of the stars of the Morry Club of the Central League last year and this season a member of the Cyclers of McKeesport and the Goslins of the South Side.

Whitey was the star of the Cyclers' 33-22 victory over the Cleveland Rosenblums of the American League at McKeesport last night, scoring six field goals and playing a generally excellent all-round game, and after the battle Acting Manager Dave Kerr of the visitors closed for his services with John J. Freund, Jr., local floor impresario, acting in the negotiations.

Littell will report to the Rosenblums in New York Saturday and play with them against the Celtics that night.

Whitey began his basketball career with the Beaver Falls High School team and then went to California State Normal School. His work in the scholastic ranks was of a sensational order and won him a tender to play with the Morrys, and his playing in the professional ranks has been of a consistently high order.

Last year Moon Klinzing, who played the other forward with Littell for the Morrys, joined the Cleveland club and ended the season with that outfit. He is back with the Cyclers, the old Morry outfit, and has been playing with Littell. Pip Koehler, another former Morry player, is a regular member of the Fort Wayne K. of C. team of the American League.

Manager Francis Saunders of the Cyclers said this morning he had not been informed of Littell's defection. The Cyclers trailed Cleveland, 19 to 10, at the end of the first half last night, and Littell played a prominent part in the great second half rally that brought about victory.

NOTES of the BOXERS

GARFIELD JOHNSON, local Negro heavyweight, and Frankie Monahan, of Butte, Mont., are set for their 10-round windup at McKeesport tonight. Johnson faces a tough test, for he is booked to box Kid Crutchfield, local rival, in the eight-round semi-final at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, and must win in order to make that battle stand up. Yet in boxing Monahan he is taking on a fellow who has met Leo Lomski twice, and fought Roy Moore, Everett Strong, Owen Phelps, Al Webster and other good ones. Georgie Peck, of the North Side, and Allen Beatty, of Uniontown, will meet in the semi-final in the Tube City. Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, will clash with Mickey Solomon, of New Castle in the second bout, and Louis Terris, of New Kensington, and Footie Zelnack, of Clairton, will oppose Tom Geyer, of Pittsburgh, in the opener.

Hamilton, Ont., promoters are trying to rematch Jack McFarland, Wilkinsburg featherweight, who recently returned from the Coast, with Jackie Johnston for an early show.

The North Side A. C. has an amateur boxing show and other entertainment billed for tonight in the German Masonic Hall, Pressley street and Madison avenue. The following bouts are listed: George Evans vs. Mickey Werbanic, Pete Vell vs. Louis Santucci, Regis Davis vs. Frank Lang, Ernie Smith vs. Sylvester Pastorious and D. Porfio vs. Pete Ortleib and Max Ziff vs. Hugh Fetzer.

A'S MAY LOSE SAMMY HALE

CHILDRESS, Texas, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Sammy Hale, third baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, will not report for spring training unless his salary is increased, he said here today while on a visit from Wheeler County, where he has interests in the oil and gas fields.

"I will not play baseball this year unless I get more money," he declared.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Clarksburg, W. Va.—Al Corbett won by technical knockout over Frankie Buff of New Kensington, 1 round; Tony Burns knocked out Jimmy Duffy of New Kensington, 1 round; Mickey Milton knocked out Jack Low of New Kensington, 2 rounds.

At San Francisco—Boy Wally defeated Delos (Kid) Williams, 10 rounds.

Oakland Developing What Lies in Front of It

By B. C. FORBES

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 1.—To become great, a city must develop to the utmost what lies in front of it, what lies back of it, and what is inside it.

Is your city doing that?

OAKLAND is an example of a city that is bent upon making the most of its resources and potentialities. What it is doing may inspire your city to bestir itself.

In front of Oakland swings the widest door in the world, the Pacific Ocean, leading to the greatest mass of people on the face of the earth.

To take advantage of this, Oakland is spending millions on improving her harbor facilities. By building a commodious tube to displace an existing bridge, for example, several more miles of inner harbor will be made available without obstruction. This work is nearing completion. And when the present appropriation of $10,000,000 has been spent, the citizens doubtless will authorize further developments, for I find the people here—the rank and file as well as the leaders—eager and ambitious to build up a metropolitan city and to draw together into one large family all its neighboring communities of the East Bay, with their population of more than half-a-million, a figure which may astonish those not familiar with the rapid growth of this thriving locality.

OAKLAND is energetically developing what lies in front of it. Is your city?

BACK of all great cities lie either rich agricultural areas or teeming industries—or both. Yesterday most often it was agriculture. Today most often it is industries. But agriculture is infinitely important, basic, vital.

Between Oakland and one great agricultural expanse rise a labyrinth of hills, baby mountains. To get over them you twist and twine, spiralwise, and if your car has plenty of power and excellent brakes, you can negotiate the barrier in an hour. The scenery is beautiful, admittedly.

But Oakland, very sensibly, has launched a movement looking to the driving of a tunnel through the hills at a low level—there is one tunnel already, but it is far too high up.

Two important bridges have been built to facilitate access by road—instead of ferries—from the north.

Railway facilities are constantly being improved to quicken communication with the inland resources.

OAKLAND is cultivating energetically what lies back of it. Is your city?

INSIDE the city not much is being left undone.

Fully $60,000,000 is being spent to procure a water supply adequate for, I understand, two million people—a vast project. Ten million dollars are being invested in schools—and such schools up-to-date Californian cities do create! They make the heart of an eastern parent almost sad and envious. A delightful lake—incidentally, the regular winter haven of many thousands of wild ducks which the city feeds—will soon be made still more attractive. Street improvements are vigorously under way. Imposing buildings rise on all sides.

Then, not least important, every inducement is held out to make it profitable for new industries to locate here. Plenty of excellent sites are available with both rail and water transportation alongside; unlimited power at low rates is furnished; the climate is such that workers can and do turn out more than can be done where there are sizzling seasons and zero seasons; California's sunshine attracts a plentiful supply of married workmen—60 per cent of them own their homes, President Field of the Chamber of Commerce informs me, an amazing record; the cost of living here is distinctly less than in eastern centers, with their high rents.

OAKLAND is striving to make the most of what is inside it. Is your city?

THE results already are very impressive. And Oakland is only starting to grow in earnest.

STOCKS GO UP, OIL SHARES WEAK

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Major speculative activity in today's stock market was again on the up-side, although weakness cropped out in the oils, most of which sank to new low ground, and some of the minor specialties. Violent advances again took place in a number of business appliance, public utility and independent steel shares. Motor and baking issues also presented several points of strength.

Despite the continuance of the 3½ per cent rediscount rate by the Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis Federal Reserve banks, some uneasiness was still apparent over the credit situation. Call money dropped from 4½ to 4 per cent as the February dividend and interest disbursements returned to the banks. Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank hold their weekly meeting after the close of the market.

The urgent retreat of the short interest accelerated the rise in many of the specialties. International Business Machine soared 11 points, Burroughs Adding Machine 9, Fidelity-Phenix Insurance and Warren Brothers, each advanced about 7 points and Montana Power, Vanadium Steel, Transue & Williams, Peoples Gas, Gold Dust and several others climbed 3 to 6 points. Packard, Studebaker and General Motors led the rise in the motor group and National Biscuit and Ward Baking B headed the rise in the baking issues.

Fox Film turned heavy on the announcement of new financing. Brooklyn Edison, Porto Rican Tobacco, Christie Brown and American Zinc preferred also were under selling pressure. Atlantic Refining and Houston Oil, which broke sharply in the early trading, recovered part of their losses by early afternoon.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Atlantic Refining Breaks.

Another ugly break in Atlantic Refining unsettled the oil stocks today and there was a heavy wave of selling against several of the independent issues, notably Marland and Phillips. Fair support made its appearance on a scale down, but there was nothing to indicate that the buying was for any other purpose than to prevent a wide open break. The oils will be put to the test of a series of unfavorable reports over the next several days. A sample of what is in store for the group was had yesterday in Marland's statement showing a deficit of $10,000,000 for 1927. Atlantic will probably issue a poor report and in addition to this expectation, the street today was discussing the possibility of suspending dividends on the shares. The company has been paying $1 a share on the common since early last year, but the disbursements were not designated as "quarterly" payments, although stockholders were advised that payments would be continued as long as earnings warranted. Atlantic apparently did not do well last year despite the cheap crude available. The low-priced crude, according to some observers, ought to be bullish on Atlantic, which is primarily a refiner and marketer, but such evidently was not the case. A possible explanation is seen by some traders in the stiff competition the company is meeting from Gulf Oil.

December sales of all groups, including department stores, were the largest ever known in that month, the board said.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Movements were mixed on the curb market today, a display of strength in the morning being followed by a sudden selling pressure in nearly all groups, and in the afternoon movements were nearly all to lower levels.

Public utility issues held the most prominent place in the market because of heavy buying of stocks that are understood to be concerned in coming mergers. Electric Bond and Share held the chief position in this group because of current reports about plans to acquire some of the leading western companies, and it was coupled by some with Montana Power in recent market operations. Buying that has been in progress became more impressive, carrying it up 3 points to 93¾, a new high record. American Light and Traction, which also is understood to be concerned in coming mergers, advanced 10 points and Commonwealth Edison moved up over 11 points.

Some important advances were made in the industrial issues at the start when Johns Manville rose 3 points and Deere advanced 2 points. Gobel continued its upward movement and made an advance of 2 points. American Rolling Mills and Aluminum were among other strong features.

Metropolitan was an active issue in the chain stores, advancing over a point. Celanese was in supply, dropping over 2 points. Bancitaly varied in its tone, a rally from an early decline being followed by another selling movement. General Baking "A" rose over a point. Melville Shoe moved up 12 points. Glen Alden was under pressure again and dropped over a point. There was little feature to the motor group. Newmont Mining was again strong and rose over 2 points.

Oil stocks were fairly well held. Although leading issues on the stock exchange showed pronounced weakness, the oil stocks on the curb market were not especially affected by the poor showing of the Marland statement for 1927.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The bond market continued to move quietly at steady prices today. Traders generally had their eyes upon the Federal Reserve Bank meeting this afternoon, although it was not expected that any action would be taken to increase the rediscount rate. Considerable interest was felt in the Federal Reserve statement, also due this evening, in view of recent sharp reductions of government security holdings.

Oversubscription of the $30,000,000 issue of the city of Rio de Janeiro bonds was reported within 15 minutes after the books were opened. A $7,000,000 issue of Savoy Plaza 5½s also was reported oversubscribed.

Interest in the listed market centered in New York traction liens as a result of the move by Interborough Rapid Transit to increase fares from 5 to 7 cents. New York Railway income 6s reached a new high price for the year.

A few public utility liens, such as Columbia Gas and Electric 5s and Havana Electric 5½s, were firm. Railroad mortgages were sluggish in the early trading, punctuated by some selling of Florida East Coast 5s.

United States government securities showed little early activity. The foreign group also was quiet and fractionally irregular.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The cotton market opened easy today at a decline of 6 to 18 points, active months selling 13 to 20 points net lower under a renewed liquidation and local or southern selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of a lower market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria.

The break, which carried May and October contracts into new low ground for the movement, brought in fresh buying and covering, and the greater part of the initial losses was recovered by the end of the first hour, May selling up to 17.38c.

Private cables said there had been hedge selling, with further London and Manchester liquidation in the Liverpool market and that Manchester was pessimistic owing to the limited turnover in cotton goods.

Rallies from the opening decline were promoted by reports of continued drouthy conditions in West Texas and talk of a better tone in the stock market. May sold up to 17.39c and October to 17.16c, or about 1 to 3 points net higher. The advance met a renewal of realizing or liquidation, however, and the market became irregular, prices at midday showing reactions of 5 or 10 points from the best.

FIREPROOF PFD. UP SLIGHTLY

Prices were steady to firm during the early part of the session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today but business was further restricted and the volume showed a considerable decrease from the week's average.

Carnegie Metals was dull and unchanged, with only a few trades in the issue recorded during the first half of the day. Standard Sanitary was handled in small volume at 109, unchanged from yesterday's close. National Fireproofing displayed an upward tendency and was fractionally higher on the initial transaction at 21⅝. May Drug was firm at a slight fraction above Wednesday's last price.

There was a little trading in Arkansas Natural Gas around 8⅝ as compared with yesterday's close at 8¾, but the stock failed to develop any noticeable activity and later turned dull. Glass stocks were steady but only a few shares were handled. Lone Star was also dull but held steady.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Unexpected weakness of wheat quotations at Liverpool, together with predictions of increasing shipments from Argentina, gave an early downward trend today to wheat values here. Corn prices were also easier, owing largely to favorable weather for the corn crop movement. Opening at ⅛c to ½c lower, Chicago wheat held near to initial figures. Corn started unchanged to ⅛c off and later showed a slight general setback, with oats likewise inclined downward. Provisions, too, went lower.

At noon wheat was unchanged to ⅝c lower and corn varying from ⅛c off to ⅛c up.

Greater pressure from offerings of wheat afloat on the ocean was associated today with a forecast that Argentina wheat shipments this week would be in excess either of the total last week or a year ago. Under such circumstances, British millers and importers were represented as selling wheat futures at Liverpool rather than buying. Meanwhile, houses with eastern connections were sellers here and continued dry weather southwest brought in but few orders to purchase.

Good sized receipts of corn here today—478 cars—counted as a bear factor in addition to favorable weather. On the other hand, houses operating extensively in Iowa and Illinois said country offerings to arrive were limited and consignment notices small. Washington official advices reported that corn growth conditions in Argentina are favorable and that a record yield is being looked for.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Another new low record for the season was made in the raw sugar market early today with prices down 1-32c under continued liberal offerings of duty-free. Sales reported and included were 30,000 Porto Ricans to an operator for February shipment at 4.27c and 3,000 bags due Monday to refiner at 4.24c.

The market opened unchanged to 2 points higher on some covering by March shorts and a little commission house buying, but houses with Cuban connections sold on the rally and prices at midday were 1 point lower. Trading was not very active, as operators were inclined to limit operations and await the effects of the lower prices for refined sugar on the consuming trade.

In refined sugar all refiners were listing at 5.70c for fine granulated. The demand was fair, but it was noted that buyers were not inclined to buy beyond their nearby requirements.

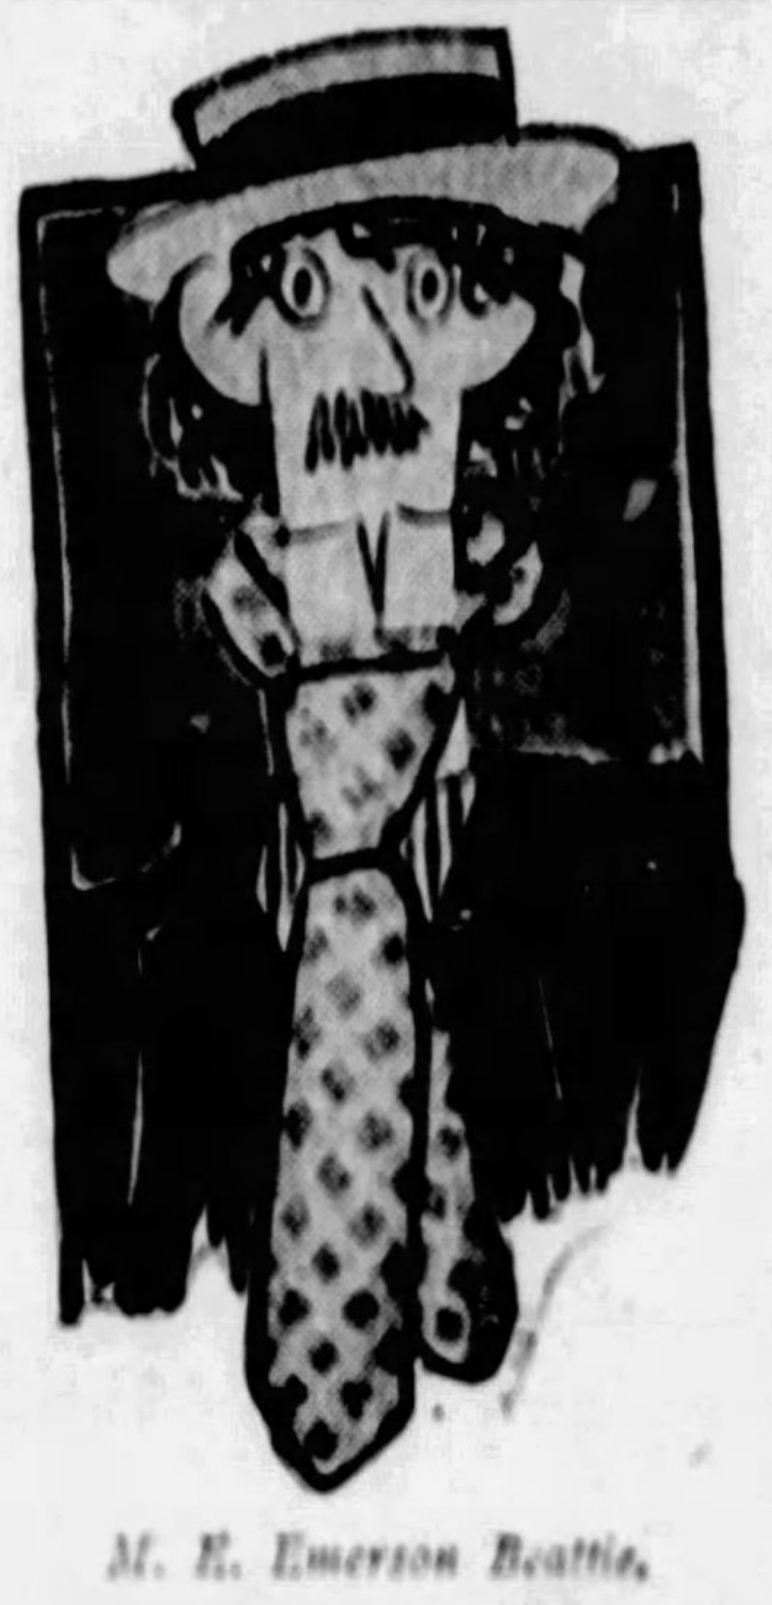
HERE'S A BIG, CLEAN CONSTRUCTIVE IDEAR!



M. E. Emerson Beattie.

By MISTER FRISBY
Congressman-at-Large.

WASHINGTON—It is a pleasure to receive big, constructive suggestions, and I am indebted to Mr. Beattie for the following telegram—

ALBANY, N. Y.
Congressman Frisby,
Washington Monument,
Washington, D. C.

I NOTICE THAT ALL THE STORES HAVE BEEN HAVING AFTER-CHRISTMAS SALES OFFERING MERCHANDISE ONE-THIRD TO ONE-HALF OFF. I SUGGEST THAT CONGRESSMAN FRISBY INTRODUCE A BILL TO HAVE CHRISTMAS POSTPONED A WEEK EACH YEAR. THIS WOULD GIVE SHOPPERS AN OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THESE SALES IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS AND SAVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS YEARLY TO THE NATION.

E. E. BEATTIE.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Emb. Mom. Inspector,
Emb. Moment Division,
Sir—

Sh! I'm a policeman—not a whistle cop—but a real manhuntin' hound. Recently I swooped down upon the rendezvous of a much-sought criminal, but was despondent because we didn't see anybody but a pleasant young fellow who went out of his way to amuse us with his witty sayings. Just as we were about ot sit down for a game of checkers I was called back to headquarters. Imagine my embarrassment when I later discovered that the life of the party, our young entertainer, was none other than the much-sought criminal himself, for whom $50,000 reward was posted.

ON "TRUE ARTISTRY"

SOME people wonder if a
Woman can LOVE more than ONCE! Why not?
LOVE is supposed to be a
JOY. Why then only ONE?
Why believe that there is only
ONE MAN in the whole WORLD
Who can give us HAPPINESS?
This is a form of egoism.
Obviously there must be OTHERS, though we may never
Have MET them. But to Persuade ourselves they do not EXIST is to slam the door in The face of POSSIBILITY.
To LOVE is an exercise for
The SOUL. It INSPIRES,
Enlarges it. Does a PIANIST
Whose GENIUS moves the World have to play only on ONE
Instrument? If he is GREAT Enough he will bring BEAUTY
And harmony out of ANY instrument.
But at the SAME time, if he
Is experienced he will never CONSENT to play on one
That is CHEAP, worn out, or
Out of TUNE. WISE women
Put the same theory into PRACTICE.

BUGS BAER Says

WHILE all the agate-eyed pacifists are picking away at Admiral Plunkett, like blind hens at frozen corn, we might ask what they expect the sailor with the banjo name to talk about?

Plunkett ran into a southwester of curly criticism because he spoke of the next war. What should he talk about? Day nurseries?

We know that he ain't an expert on the clay-eaters of Georgia. He doesn't know a thing about the medicinal values of slippery elm bark.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We understand that he delivered a lecture while operating the big naval guns on the western front in 1918. His subject was blue delft china. The talk was a bust. The boys who were jamming the guns were more interested in knocking off the German lines of communication at the time.

After that lecture the Admiral promised himself that he would stick to the business he knew like a burr to a saddle blanket. The soft-backed orators who are panning the Admiral seem to forget that he not only directed a battery of naval guns at the front, but got them there after the Allies said it was impossible.

War is the Admiral's caper.. And if Plunkett wants to plink it, the censors should pull in their necks and change the subject.

Still, the Admiral's critics may be right. Proving there is a first time for everything.

Napoleon never talked war. His only subject was, "Should college tailors sew buttons on live raccoons?"

While Alexander was doing the light, fantastic Macedonian phalanx through Europe and Asia, he stopped frequently at the Persian Rotary Clubs and dilated on his favorite topic, "Can paper flowers fool an astigmatic bee more than once?"

Robert E. Lee spoke at many Chambers of Commerce during the Civil War and was considered an authority on mutton-chop sleeves and the drop-stitch doily. He never once referred to the north-south struggle as he knew it would distress the ladies' auxiliary of the anvil chirpers.

And while Grant was backing and fooling with Lee in the Wilderness he entertained his generals during conferences with finger snapping. Grant had a double-jointed thumb, liked his whisky when the distilleries were running at flood-tide and smoked cigars that would knock a tobacco worm for a twister.

But his only subject was "Shall Congress subsidize a farmer in a poker game?"

If you have never heard Pershing deliver his famous talk on folding opera hats then you do not realize the value of this soldier to civilization during the World War. The way to get famous in this world is to pick out a topic of which you are ignorant and then explain it.

Adequate Miner Relief

To Come Through Body Organized as Result of Sun-Telegraph Revelations,

The plight of the starving and freezing families of miners in the Pittsburgh district is to receive adequate relief. This is the promise contained in the organization of a body sponsored by the most prominent men in our city, men whose names assure that the work they will carry on will be on a scope corresponding to the great need that exists. These men, who represent church, industrial, commercial, financial and professional leadership of our city deserve the thanks of the community for the wholehearted manner with which they have taken up a great problem.

The real spirit of sympathy which they show implies that they have not heretofore known the seriousness of the situation, else they would have acted much sooner. There is an excuse for this in that the matter had not been brought to their attention with sufficient force. While they could not help but have known that the miners were in sore straits it is reasonable to believe that they thought relief agencies at work were sufficient to take care of the emergency.

The Sun-Telegraph believes it is indirectly responsible for the formation of this relief body—the direct cause, of course, being the articles by Fannie Hurst, noted novelist, whose revealing articles exposed a condition of affairs not even realized by the staff of The Sun-Telegraph, which has kept in close touch with the situation in the mining towns for many months. Miss Hurst got close to poor sufferers. She lifted a veil that possibly could not have been lifted by another person. And she wrote with sympathy and understanding as well as with fairness to both sides in making the disclosures of great misery for which real relief is promised now.

The selection of A. K. Oliver as president of the relief organization is a voucher of the earnestness of Pittsburgh business men in going into this thing right, as well as being a guarantee that the work will be carefully and efficiently organized, because of Mr. Oliver's experience in Red Cross work.

Again let us say our leading men deserve the thanks of the community. Their action is the touch of humanity that signifies the kinship of the high and the low in worldly affairs. Let us be prepared to support them that their work may be not restricted in any essential point.

Keep Our Streets Clean! Many of Them Are Filthy

There is a story of a man asking a boy his age. When the lad replied the man appeared incredulous, expressing the opinion that no boy could become that dirty in only eight years. We wonder what that man would estimate the age of most Pittsburgh streets to be, making accumulations of dirt the basis of his guess.

A few downtown streets appear to be kept reasonably free of dirt, except along the curbs, but elsewhere many of them are unreasonably filthy. Some of them appear not to have been cleaned in many months. The appearance of cobble pavements, especially, is a disgrace.

Pittsburgh streets need washing as well as brushing, which only removes the coarser dirt, leaving the dust to become a menace to health and comfort. And streets outside of the downtown district need a bath as often as those in the Golden Triangle. Flushing, of course, cannot be resorted to in freezing weather, but it is not always freezing even in the winter time in Pittsburgh.

A city is always judged by the condition of its streets. It may be ever so fine and ever so progressive in other ways, but dirty streets always condemn it in the eyes of visitors.

Let Pittsburgh streets be kept clean—ALL THE TIME—winter and summer.

America Needs Cruisers To Keep the Seas Open

What do we need cruisers for?

For one thing, we need them to keep the seas open and keep our commerce moving in time of war.

The principal use of a navy in action is to chase the enemy's commerce off the seas and defeat him by strangling his trade. This is the business of cruisers

Who says this is the chief business of a navy in war? One person who says it is Lord Wester Wemyss, commander of the British fleet in the Dardanelles and later first sea lord, who said in the House of Lords:

"Every Englishman knows in a general way that his safety and even the national existence depend entirely on the navy, but he has the vaguest idea of what the fleet does.

"Its chief power lies not in guns or torpedoes, but in the immemorial right of a belligerent to suppress entirely all seaborne supplies of enemies on which the enemies' continued resistance must depend."

In other words, the British admiralty proposes that, if war comes, it will be Britain's enemy, not Britain, that has the jugular of its trade cut.

That also is the reason for a strong American navy, second to none in the world, especially in cruiser strength.

Our Ten Billion Surplus

Nevertheless, Economy Is Important,

President Coolidge urges economy despite the fact that the nation collected last year $635,000,000 more than it needed.

The President's attitude is sound. The fact that you can squeeze any number of millions or billions out of the people isn't a reason for squandering the money.

The sensible thing to do with excess money would be to turn it back to taxpayers and reduce taxes. You can always take it away from them again if you need it.

Have you heard about our "social surplus," now ten thousand million dollars a year, and growing? It is the amount that the people have left, of what they earn, after paying the cost of living.

Our earning power remains stationary or rises, and recently the cost of living has gone down. Professor Bailey says the people of this country earn every year ten billions more than they need to live.

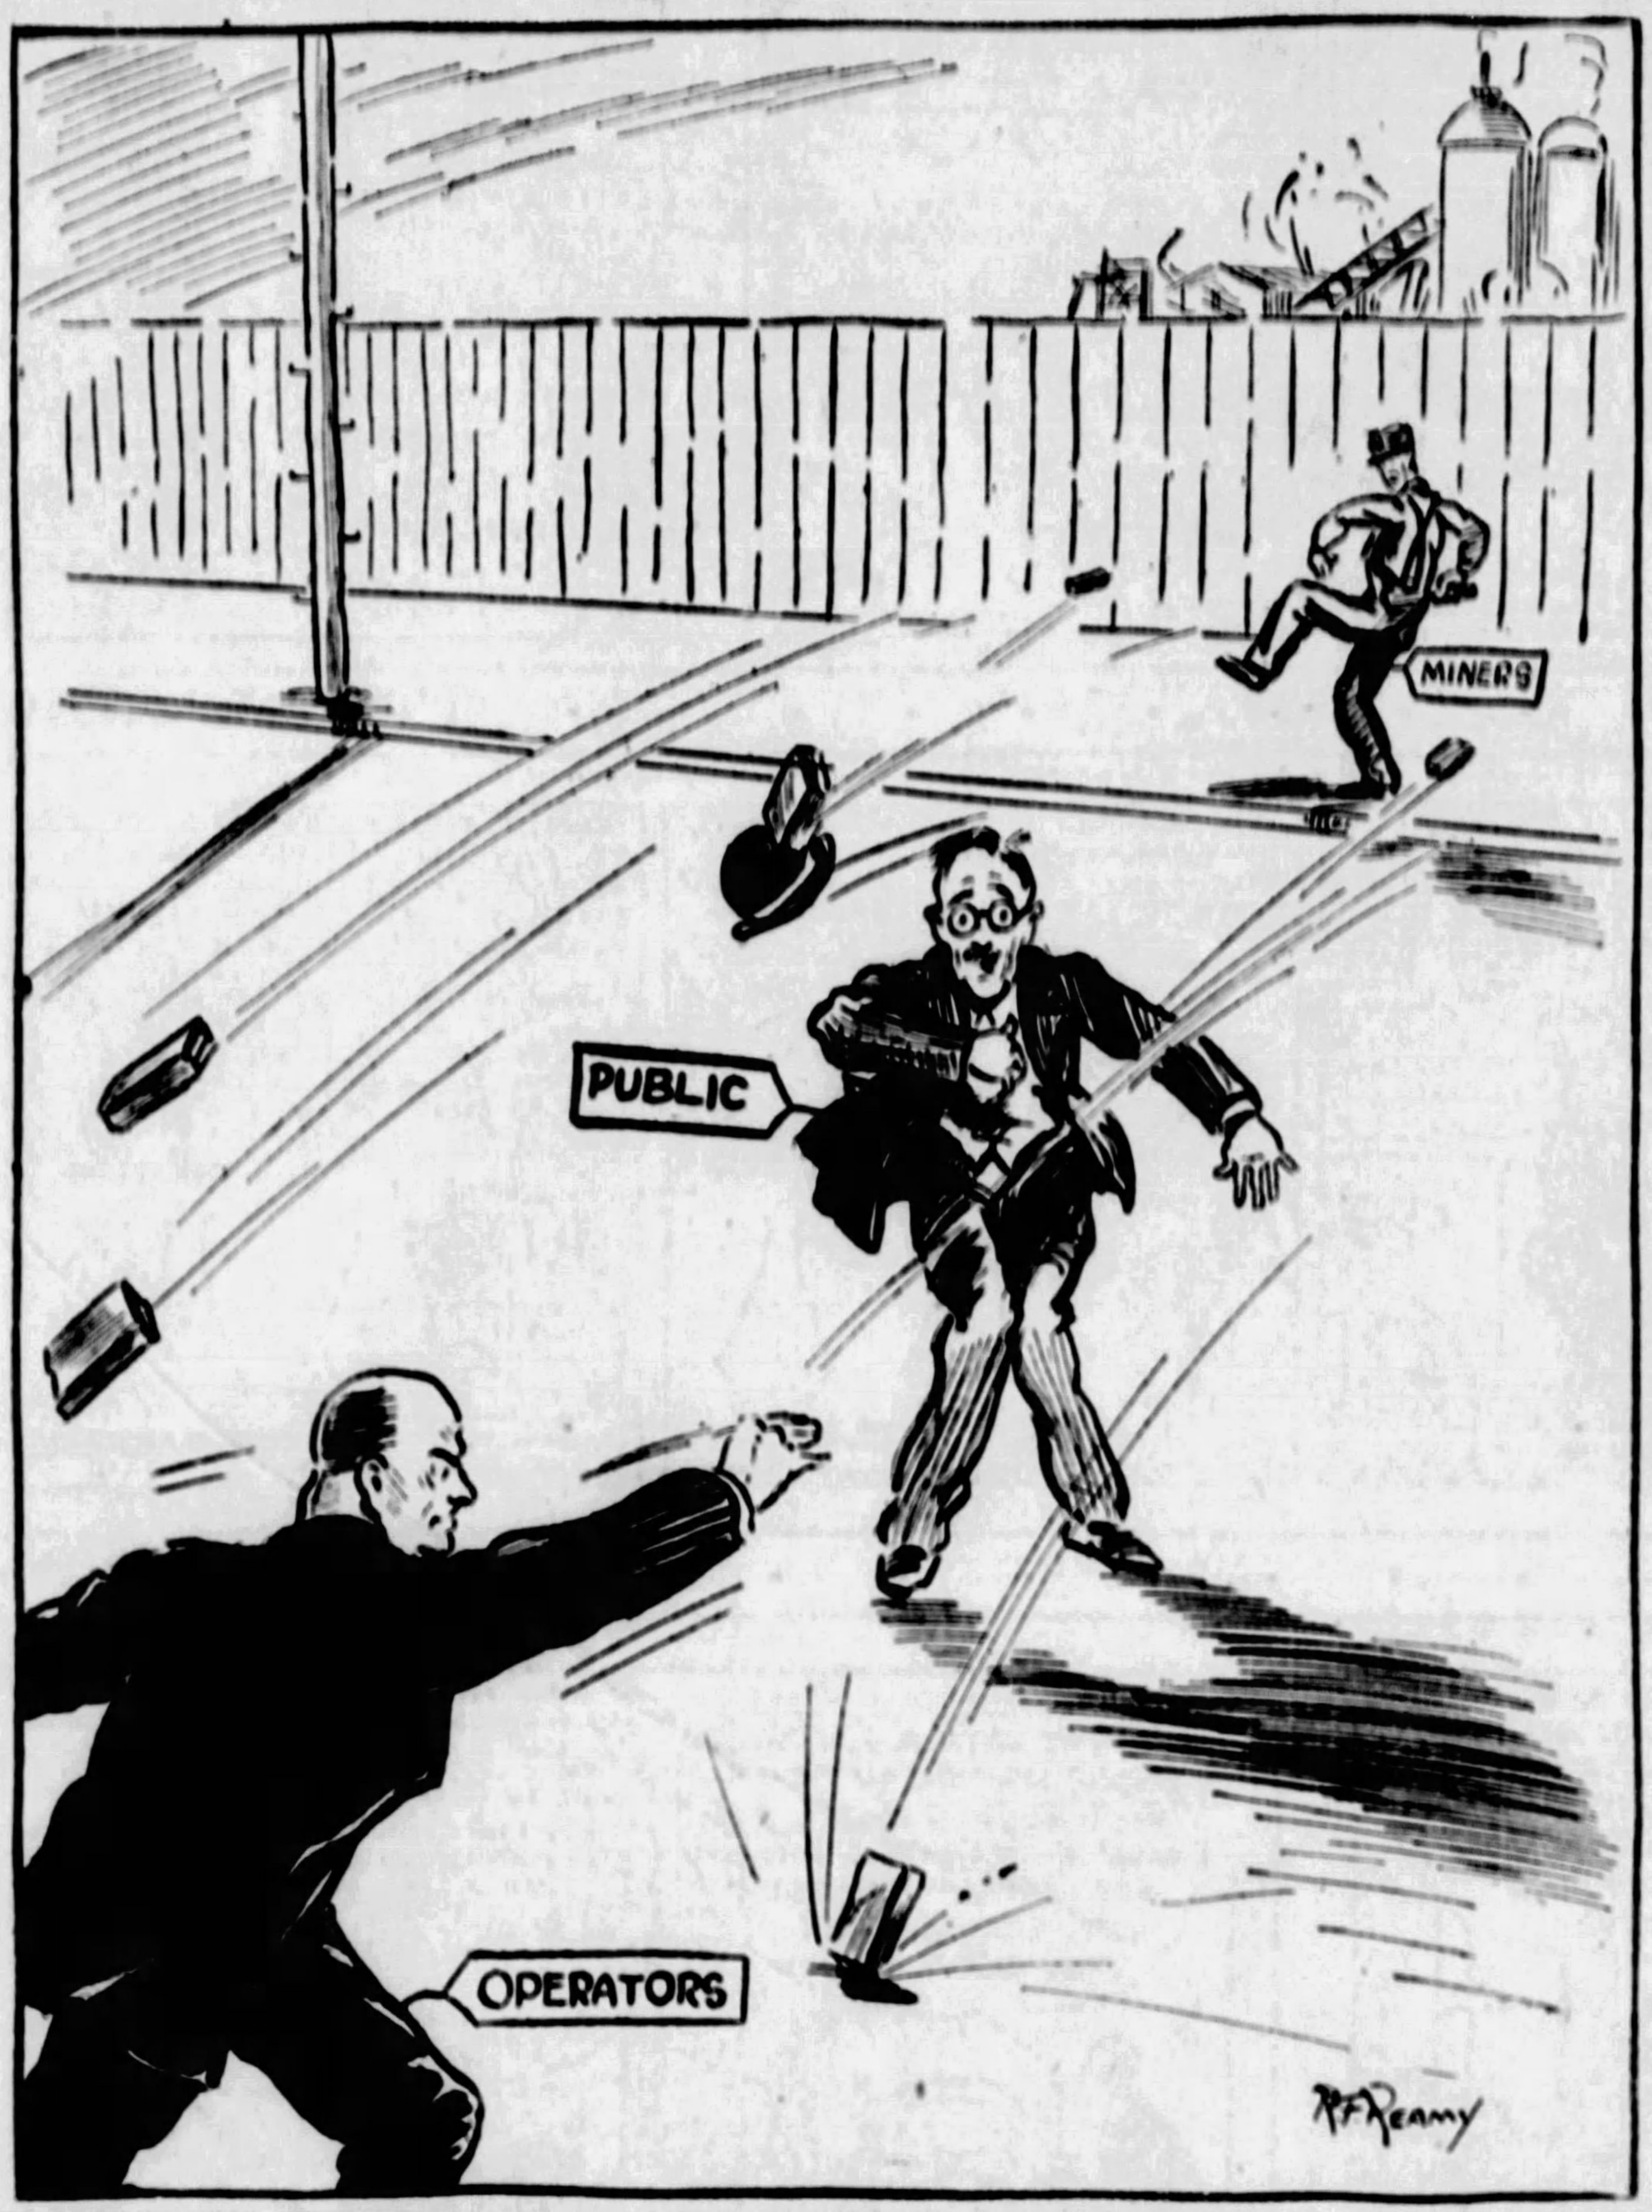
That's one reason why it is dangerous to sell America short. That social surplus in ten years will amount to one hundred billions of dollars. Each year it equals the ten billions we lent Europe, about which we worry so much.

Ten billions to this country are not much more important than one of those dimes that John D. Rockefeller gives away.

The get-rich, fake oil stock, mining stock, real estate and other public swindlers get a good deal of the "social surplus." But even so, the money still exists, although those that owned it originally sorrow when the schemers take it away from them.

This is a prosperous country. Get something good in America, take care of it, and it will take care of you.

This Costs Pittsburgh $2,000,000 a Week



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Do We or Don't We?

MOST of us, I think, believe that we do what we "want" to do, unless prevented by mechanical laws, or our wives, or some other obstaculum. And even when defeated we do not lose faith in our essential independence. There is something in us that indignantly rejects the suggestion that we are only vital machines, which really have no will of their own. We believe that our actions are "purposive," and not simply the results of "responses," either "reflex" or "instinctive." We plan, we "look to the end," and it is we ourselves who do that.

This is not to ignore the enormous power of the "herd mind," the almost irresistible lure of convention, fashion and example. For, all those things may coexist with essential, underlying, freedom of will. We are perfectly aware of what we do when we yield up our independence to follow the crowd, and when through lack of sufficient force, we submit to what we do not like, or to what something within tells us is wrong or disgraceful. The mere fact of our resistance and protest we may regard as proof of individual freedom—freedom that exists fundamentally though in the circumstances it is not, or cannot be, fully exhibited.

The drunkard, between crises, knows that he is rushing to his ruin, and tries, each time less effectively, to arrest his downward course. The mind continues to protest, but its hold upon the physical man, its control over the bodily appetite, weakens, until an irremediable catastrophe ends all. What is the meaning of that gradually overwhelming resistance? Is it mechanistic response fighting mechanistic response, or is it a purposeful will broken against obstacles too strong for it?

What is it that raises in us the question of our own nature? Can that be only a response to some external stimulus? Or is a machine capable of debating with itself the question: "Am I really a machine?" To what external stimulus, or to what imaginary reponse, does the mechanist owe the mental curiosity which leads him to try to analyze human action and to question whether a man who thinks he has a purpose, really has a purpose or only a reflex?

In a manner which is perhaps becoming a trifle too common among certain advanced scientific theory builders, not only the general public, but other workers on similar problems are treated patronizingly as when the vitalist is told by the mechanist that his "mysterious agencies" (the mechanist's way of putting it) are "too reminiscent of nature deities, earth spirits and similar relics of the childhood of human thought to be congenial."

Science as an explorer of nature runs into danger today because of its growing tendency to the un-Baconian habit of constructing theories as early and as rapidly as possible in every investigation. Impatience with the long and laborious collection of facts without prejudice or preformed interpretation, and with the still more onerous work of thorough analysis of all the facts that can be obtained, is the cause of this habit. But it is defended on the ground that it calls the imagination into action to help forward the investigation. Oh, yes, but until all the essential factors are known the imagination should be held with a short tether. Over a field that is as yet entirely unexplored give it free wing, for then it is an indispensable pathfinder; but soon as a way of advance into the unknown is found the suggestions of the imaginations should be accepted only at short range. A comprehensive and enduring theory can only result from a complete collection of fundamental data. The tendency is to magnify and exalt into finalities the little theories invented by the way, which have to be discarded as progress continues, and so ideas must constantly be reshaped.

In the investigation of human nature the great trouble is that the data and methods of material science are too exclusively appealed to and employed with the result of challenging the existence of intelligent purpose in the life and behavior of men and women.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Right Start of Day

SUPPOSING every person you meet in the morning should carry around the expression your face presents.

You would think this a world of grouches, wouldn't you?

Before you leave home tomorrow morning look in the mirror.

Try to have the same lines in your face that you carry to work.

You don't like to look at persons who appear as you do.

But day after day you make no effort to change.

Why don't you look more happy and cheerful?

Of course, things are troubling you, but others are troubled, too.

You have annoyances, but who has not?

Next time you look in the mirror try to get rid of that scowl and notice how much better you look without it.

When you have the surly expression ironed out you will feel better.

It is great to start the day in the right spirit.

The day is made happier and everything seems to go along in a more pleasing way.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Best of Life

LIFE'S best lies not in drifting on Down ways unvexed, serene,
Where cares or conflicts never dawn
To mar the placid scene.

But in the fierce encounter still
To face the gaining foe,
And check him with resistless will,
Though fires of hope burn low.

This is life's best, and all who feel
The thrill of combat rise,
Who know the clash of steel on steel,
Reach nearest to the prize.

To dare always, against all odds,
However hard the strife,
This proves man's kinship with the gods,
And this is best of life.

Isn't It So?

Vice is supposed to get what's coming to it in the hereafter.

Human Waste

EUGENE G. GRACE, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, is offering a series of gold prizes for the greatest progress during 1928 in eliminating human waste caused by preventable accidents.

The Bethlehem organization will be divided into 11 groups. The group making the greatest percentage of reduction in time lost due to accidents in the year 1928 will be awarded a grand prize of $1,000 in gold. The two next best groups will get $500 and $250, respectively.

President Grace, who employs 68,000 men in steel plants, mines, quarries, shipyards and other operating units, says:

"We have made good strides in manufacturing economies during the last few years, but there still remains much that can be done, especially in further reducing the human and economic waste caused by accidents."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Perhaps the most curiously conducted business in New York is that of art galleries. These magnificent establishments paying enormous rentals, often survive on two or three sales during an entire year.

Some, of course, do a steady business in cheaper pictures. But the patron who spends a hundred thousand or so on a single picture naturally does a lot of thinking before buying. Ninety-five per cent of people who visit galleries are there merely to look.

There are dealers who have labored earnestly for five years to make one sale. An expensive painting, too, must go through innumerable acid tests before it is sold. The cleverest crooks are constantly conniving to make art patrons their prey.

It is a racket that if successfully worked pays huge rewards. There are many spurious paintings today hanging in million-dollar castles whose owners believe them real. The clever art crook must be one with a background of culture and education. He knows his social stuff and makes it hum.

Art dealers realize biggest profits quite naturally among the new rich "who do not know much about art, but know what they like." A fine picture rarely has a fixed price. Broadly speaking, it is worth what the highest bidder will pay.

Its antiquity, skill of the artist and how long he has been dead figure, of course, in the tariff. There is not so much profit for the dealers among sales to collectors. Experience has made them shrewd judges of value.

Some art dealers have no offices. They mingle among people of wealth, learn their art desires and secure pictures on consignment. In this way there are a number who make enormous incomes.

W. R. Hearst is reputed one of the foremost collectors of art in America, being such a heavy purchaser that there is a warehouse in the Bronx to house the overflow. John Ringling, the circus owner, is one of those who scours the world for treasures mounting into millions. E. F. Albee is also a steady picture buyer. It is a pastime that may be indulged by only those with a hefty bankroll.

As one who once lived in the home of an impoverished French family which was cluttered up with Chippendale furniture, Gobelin tapestry, hangings of Watteau, Botticelli and Corot I found it rather mussy. I began to long for the blood red finish of Grand Rapids mahogany, a few gentle wax doves under glass, and the conventional portrait of "The Stag at Bay." I would have even welcomed the carpeted brick door holder or the turkey wing stove duster.

As a matter of fact the horsehair sofa has been shamefully libeled. It offered warmth in winter and a sleek coolness in summer that has never been equaled. During my formative years I slept on one when company came, and it beats the average modern bed a city block. Too many cherished standbys have been untrussed by sophisticated smart alecs. And am I glad?

A bootblack sign at West Broadway and Reade street reads: "Ladies and Gents Shine Here."

Three plays featuring a cockeyed hilarity have failed on Broadway this season, which might indicate if there is any two-fisted drinking going on the audience wants to participate. Its no fun just looking on.

It used to be there was often one consistent drinker in a family. Nowadays a family may make it a grand slam. The other evening I stopped at an apartment to see a young man who was well owled. So was his flapper sister, so was his aunt and so was his mother. And so, it may be surmised, was her old man.

Training for the Job

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have recently received from Nicholas Ricciardi, State Commissioner of Vocational Education at Sacramento, a pamphlet entitled, "Joining Hands to Produce Efficient Workers," There are many suggestive ideas in this pamphlet.

One idea that stands out is that there are not many people working at jobs for which they are fitted.

Secretary Hoover is quoted as saying that out of every three workers who claim to be efficient journeymen, only one can qualify, and that out of every six workers who claim to be experts, only one actually proves to be so.

There is one type of worker that is gradually being crowded out in the advance of civilization and that is the man who works with his hands alone. Machinery is more and more doing the work of the hand laborer and to run machinery takes brains and training.

Therefore the most important subject before the community is the proper training of its workers, as a trained worker is a much more valuable citizen than an untrained one.

The civilizations of the past were based upon ignorant human labor, mere bestial strength. It was that which built the pyramids and raised most of the other monuments of antiquity.

The fabric of our present-day progress is based upon mind.

There is no more important question before the community than in fitting the round man to the round hole and not putting the square peg in a round hole.

I have received several letters recently from people who are dissatisfied with their conditions of work and complain of the difficulty of finding work.

But most everybody is looking for the trained man.

What does training mean?

According to Mr. Ricciardi's pamphlet an individual has five fundamental capacities.

There is his mental capacity or his ability to acquire, digest and apply ideas.

His physical capacity means his good health and his power to endure.

His moral capacity means that he discharges his duties according to approved ethical standards and knows what is right and wrong and lives up to his knowledge.

His co-operative capacity means his tolerance for the opinions of others, his ability to work in harmony with his associates and his disposition to be loyal to his superiors.

His craft capacity means that he can do his job according to standard efficiency and produce good results.

Mournful Minnies

MINNIE'S feelings are hurt again.

Or rather, Minnie's feelings are still hurt.

Getting-her-feelings-hurt is a chronic condition with Minnie. They have been getting hurt on an average of three times daily since the doctor gave her the first swat. And they'll keep right on being hurt until she snorts through the Pearly Gates and begins to crab at St. Peter because he didn't send a motorcycle escort to meet her.

Has some frightful sorrow darkened Minnie's life? Is she poor, persecuted, sick? No indeed. She is a perfectly husky young American woman of 29. She has always had good health, affectionate relatives, a nice home and a record appetite. Then why the tragedy?

THE SIMPLE TRUTH IS THAT GETTING-HER-FEELINGS-HURT IS MINNIE'S WAY OF MAKING HERSELF IMPORTANT. SHE WOULDN'T SWAP HER SENSITIVENESS FOR A SEAT IN CONGRESS.

We're just beginning to discover the truth about sensitiveness. Hitherto Sensitive People have been regarded as Human Orchids, entitled to the most tender consideration because of their delicate organisms. We now know that this touchiness has no such lovely origin. IT IS ACTUALLY A DETESTABLE VARIETY OF CONCEIT, AND SHOULD BE TREATED AS SUCH.

The Minnies of the world, and they are legion, care for just one person—and that's Minnie—and they long to center the world's attention on that beloved object. Now, it is very difficult to monopolize the world's attention. It can, of course, be done by outstanding achievement. If you're brave enough, or bright enough, or good enough you can hog the spotlight—but it takes a lot of hard work. And Minnies aren't fond of hard work.

But there's another way. A Minnie way. You can hog it by being a nuisance.

A SORE TOE GETS AS MUCH CONSIDERATION AS A GREAT SOUL—USUALLY MORE.

So Minnie becomes a human Sore Toe. And every time she's stepped on the world hears about it. Which is just what Minnie wants. She wants to be heard and considered and consoled. So she gets stepped on at the slightest pretext.

The psychologists have wise names for the Minnies. They call them neurotics and neurasthenics and you can read long articles on how to recognize and minister to them. But I can give you a shorter name and a snappier treatment. THEY'RE DOGGONED PESTS. GIVE 'EM THE AIR!

Have you a Mournful Minnie Mouldering in Your Midst? Of course you have. W. all have And we'd all like to cure her. The stop being sorry for her.

GIVING SYMPATHY TO MINNIE IS JUST LIKE FEEDING HAMBURG TO A PUP. HE SWELLS UP ON IT AND YELPS FOR MORE.

Will she gradually snap out of it and be a human?

She will.

How do I know?

I'VE BEEN A MINNIE.
